

May Day Marked By Reds

Parades, Speeches Around the World Greet International Labor Celebration

By The Associated Press
Workers' parades and speeches of labor leaders around the world today marked May Day, the ancient spring festival which is now an international labor celebration outside the United States. Moscow's demonstration emphasized civilian labor and held the annual military parade to 15 minutes.

Communists and non-Communists alike took the day off in many nations for demonstrations. U. S. workmen, who celebrate the first Monday in September, worked as usual.

Mindful of past workers' clashes on May Day in some countries, police forces of many nations were tense.

Demonstrations ranged from the annual Moscow parade, in which an estimated million persons participated, to small rallies in many nations.

In Moscow, the brief display of conventional military equipment rumbled through Red Square, followed by a sports display and Moscow residents marching before Soviet leaders and U. A. R. President Nasser. It was the shortest May Day military march in years and no new weapons were shown. The day's speaker, Defense Minister Marshal Rodion Malinovsky, sounded the usual fulminations against the West and the usual Soviet promises of peace through strength.

Communist East Germany, in a 40-minute display of military equipment, showed armored trucks, anti-aircraft and antitank guns, heavy howitzers and the first T34 Soviet medium tanks seen in East Berlin.

In the Western sector of the divided city, a demonstration began with the slogan "Peace-Freedom-Progress."

Peiping radio said half a million Chinese Communist workers, peasants and students paraded before Premier Chou En-lai "in unprecedentedly high spirits."

Some 300,000 Japanese demonstrated peacefully in Tokyo. The workers supported the Socialist opposition with demands for the defeat of the conservative government in coming parliamentary elections.

As usual, all U. S. military personnel in Japan were ordered to stay away from the demonstrators. Such orders to servicemen in Europe also have been standard for years to avoid May Day incidents.

Katy Flyer, On Last Trip, Gets Farewell

NEVADA, Mo. — They gave the Katy Flyer a farewell today, marking the end of Missouri-Kansas-Texas passenger service through Nevada.

As usual, the flyer was about an hour late chugging into the station here.

Thirty-five Nevada businessmen boarded the train at Schell City, 23 miles northeast of here, for a final ride. They had supplied themselves with jugs of coffee but didn't need them. The railroad furnished coffee and doughnuts.

The station at Harwood was decked out in black crepe.

About 300 persons were at the Nevada station as the Flyer arrived. Mayor Everett Armitage, Councilman Don Kennedy and State Rep. Robert W. Crawford made brief speeches, mourning the passing of the once proud train linking St. Louis with Parsons, Kan.

The German band of the Nevada High School played a special song written for the occasion, "Toot, Toot, Katy, Goodbye."

Miss Karen Norris, Nevada High School yearbook queen, presented the engineer with a May basket.

And with that the Flyer chugged off to Parsons and the end of an era.

Earlier the westbound Flyer had arrived at Boonville an hour late.

Texas Flood At Dallas Is Escaped

DALLAS (AP)—Rivers and streams, hopped up on eight days of rain, surged across broad sections of north and east Texas today. But an expected crest on the Trinity at Dallas failed to materialize.

Police ordered some 2,500 persons evacuated from South Dallas Wednesday night, but all but a few dozen families refused to move.

The Trinity hit 33.7 feet this morning and continued to rise slowly. That was 3.7 feet above flood stage but well below the major flood stage of 38 feet.

Schools were closed in several east Texas areas and some operators abandoned their oil wells.

The mayor at Atlanta, Tex., M. P. Ellis, declared his east Texas town a disaster area. He said he did it as a precautionary measure.

"You must get out! You must get out! Your lives are in danger," the police loudspeakers squallied through the threatened Dallas area.

The area also was flooded last year.

A small tornado whipped across Henderson, in east Texas, during a thunderstorm Wednesday night. No one was injured but there was widespread minor damage.

Several hailstorms, high winds and cloudburst rains swept from central Texas eastward.

Two adjacent states—Arkansas and Louisiana—also were beset by floodwaters.

In Arkansas, National Guardsmen were called out to aid civilians in sandbagging a levee on McKinney Bayou near Garland, 22 miles east of Texarkana. The levee protects 30,000 acres of rich farmland and 1,600 homes. A few breaks in the levee were quickly plugged.

Stick Around

It's good to be alive on a grand day like this, so if you're driving somewhere, try really hard to keep the car on the road. Besides, it runs better that way.

The temperature at 7 a. m. was 51 and 72 at 1 p. m. Low Wednesday night 43.

The temperature one year ago today, high 83, low 53; two years ago, high 65, low 40; and three years ago, high 85, low 57.

Tax Decision Is Said Urgent

Secretary of Labor Hopes For One in 30 to 60 Days

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Labor Mitchell said today he feels the administration will have to decide within 30 to 60 days whether to recommend a tax cut.

Mitchell told a news conference that while the recession seems to be flattening out, as President Eisenhower said Wednesday, he sees no solid improvement ahead.

He said that once a decision is made that further anti-recession remedies are needed, he favors a tax slash as the most effective step.

The Labor secretary put it this way:

"If there is a bolstering of the economy necessary—and that determination has to be made reasonably soon—then, as opposed to any other form of government action, such as a large scale public works program, I would favor a tax cut."

"I think a decision should be made reasonably soon as to what needs to be done. I think within the next 30 to 60 days."

Mitchell was asked whether the administration would seek to persuade the steel industry not to make any price increases when a labor wage increase goes into effect in the industry July 1.

The secretary recalled that President Eisenhower has urged both labor and management to use voluntary restraint against increasing wages and prices. Mitchell added that anything beyond that would amount to government dictation, an area which he said should not be entered.

Asked whether a steel price increase would retard recovery from the recession, Mitchell replied that of course a continuing price spiral is undesirable.

The labor secretary said he is opposed to legislating a four-day work week. Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) has suggested that Congress study this.

Mitchell said he thinks that any reduction in the work week should be left to natural development, meaning labor-management collective bargaining. He said that any hours reduction, whether legislated or bargained, is unwise if it interferes with the nation's ability to produce.

Fire Damages Heckart Home Thursday Noon

Fire which began in the center of the one-story residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Heckart, 1612 South Quincy, about 12:10 p. m. Thursday did more than $6,500 damage to the residence and contents.

The fire, according to Acting Chief Potts Vaught, started from a wall heater in the center of the house and then spread out to every room in the home. The interior was a mass of flames before the fire companies arrived on the scene.

Mrs. Heckart who was returning to her home in a Yellow Cab driven by Floyd Cook, discovered her home afire as they drove up. Cook immediately radioed to the Yellow Cab office and they in turn notified the fire department.

Chief Vaught estimated the damage to the residence at $3,000 and to the contents at $3,500.

In August Primary

Four Assured of New Term

Four Pettis County officials were assured today of returning to their posts for another term as the deadline for filing by candidates passed without any opponents appearing on the scene.

The four are: Republican Clarence M. Purchase, county court judge of the western district; Democrat Frank Armstrong, magistrate; Democrat Bryan Howe, circuit clerk; and Democrat Harold Barrick, prosecuting attorney.

In an unusual development, a son was pitted against his father for nomination in the August primary as the deadline closed Tuesday night at midnight. The situation was clarified Wednesday, however when Probate Judge A. M. Harlan withdrew his candidacy for re-election, leaving his son, Sam P. Harlan, the only Harlan in the race. Both are Democrats.

As the roster of candidates stood

Thursday, there were four candidates unopposed, with the incumbents assured of another term of office. Under state election law, candidates have five days from the filing deadline, Tuesday, in which to withdraw their names from the race.

Two judges, Frank Monroe, presiding judge of the county court, and Dimmitt Hoffman, judge of the 30th Circuit, declined to run for re-election. The roster of candidates Thursday, including those who filed late to beat the Tuesday midnight deadline, is as follows:

Judge County Court, Eastern District—E. L. Birdsong, incumbent, Democrat; and Ray Lippard, Republican.

Sedalia Priest Honored

Rev. Nolan's Silver Jubilee Is Celebrated

Nearly 300 parishioners of St. Patrick's Church attended the dinner Wednesday evening honoring the Rev. Joseph T. Nolan, pastor of the church, in celebration of his silver jubilee marking 25 years in the priesthood.

An evening of entertainment was planned for Rev. Nolan and at its close he was presented with a number of gifts, which included $225 from the parishioners with James Askren, president of the Holy Name Society, making the presentation. Mrs. John L. Riley, regent of the Daughters of Isabella of which Rev. Nolan serves as chaplain, gave 25 silver dollars and gifts were also presented from the Altar Society by Mrs. Margaret Youngkamp, president.

Perhaps the gift nearest Rev. Nolan's heart was the one he received on Tuesday when the children of the school put on a program for him and gave him 25 silver dollars.

The Rev. Clem Ilmberger, of Seneca, Mo., a young priest who came from the St. Patrick's parish and who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dell Ilmberger, 509 East Fourth, presented Rev. Nolan with a gift of money from the priests.

In making the presentation, Rev. Ilmberger said that in early history it had been a custom to recognize individuals or groups for work well done and this custom had been handed down. He said that this celebration was to honor a man gifted by the powers of the priesthood and that he had worked always for the good of his people and of his own soul.

"This priest," Rev. Ilmberger continued, "is like a river that is still on the surface, but you know that it is very active beneath. He has never failed to fulfill his obligations. This man truly works."

Two classmates of Rev. Nolan at the St. Francis Seminary in Loretta, Pa., were also speakers at the dinner.

The Rev. Leo Nugent, of Karlin, told some of the things that happened while they were at the seminary. Since they had a room across the hall from the dean they couldn't get by with much, he said, but pulled a few things, which they learned in later years the dean knew about all the time.

A seminary, he said, is not a lonesome place as you would imagine, except right at first. You soon make friends that last a lifetime. He said it was a joy to help Rev. Nolan celebrate his jubilee and he noted how fast the years had gone. St. Patrick's Church, he said, is honored to have such a pastor and he then read a letter of praise of Rev. Nolan's work as pastor from a parishioner who could not be present.

The other classmate, was the Civil Defense Alert Effect Falls Short

Sirens blew, fire trucks went out and police were on duty during Sedalia's Civil Defense alert Wednesday evening, but the entire effect fell far short of what civil defense officials hoped for.

Dean Lupkey, state Civil Defense Director, was on hand to observe the operation, and to attend a meeting of Civil Defense officials at the Old Missouri Homestead at 7:30 p. m.

During the discussion at the meeting it was brought out that the alert did not meet expectations for various reasons. People were not informed as to what the alert was all about beforehand, and the warning system did not reach districts out of the downtown area.

Plans were made for a Civil Defense conference at the Little Theater at Smith-Cotton High School May 4. Three special speakers will attend the conference and bring out various phases of civil defense.

Lupkey, a veteran of World War II and the Korean conflict, will talk on the organization of Civil Defense on a statewide level.

Maj. John J. Hall, Ground Observer Corps coordinator for Missouri, will talk on the function of the corps and the value of an adequate warning system in the event of an actual attack. Hall is a veteran of more than 16 years' military experience and an experienced bomber pilot.

Russell Boyt, chief planner on the Missouri State Survival Plan, will talk on survival after an attack. Boyt is a veteran of World War II, the winner of several decorations and awards for combat service, and has experienced the handling of war refugees.

Attending the meeting Wednesday were: Boyt, Lupkey, county judges and the Pettis County Civil Defense Board. This board consists of Bill Padgett, Dr. A. J. Campbell, Maurice Hogan, Thomas Keating and Mrs. Peggie D. Homan, county Civil Defense director.

Proposes Getting US Out of Milk Industry

Blair Signs Record List Of Cash Bills

They Will Provide Operating Money For Fiscal 1958

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Gov. James T. Blair completed action today on $538,707,556 worth of appropriations to run the state government for the new fiscal year starting July 1.

The amount was a record for Missouri. It represented a reduction of $1,013,190 under the budget recommended by the governor to the special legislative session that ended April 4.

The governor made only one change in the amounts approved by the legislature. He whacked $200,000 off the salary allotment for St. Louis State Hospital, leaving it at $4,490,658.

He said that is still $82,716 more than the hospital got for staff salaries this year and about $300,000 of this year's appropriation is being returned to the treasury unspent.

The last two bills signed included $26,556,264 for state penal and mental institutions and $2,410,116 in a final catchall or omnibus bill covering a wide variety of items—including $75,000 for each of two new agricultural research centers to be set up in southeastern and southwestern Missouri.

Today's signings completed action on all bills passed by the special session.

Yesterday the governor signed money bills carrying almost $180 million dollars.

They included more than 77 million dollars of general revenue (tax) money and were approved without changing any of the amounts set by the Legislature.

The bills provide more than 147 million dollars for the Department of Public Health and Welfare, more than 24 million dollars for the universities and colleges, $871,000 for the Legislature's operations and more than 6 million dollars for capital improvements.

A new approach to building problems at state parks authorized $100,000 for a swimming pool and related facilities at Big Lake State Park in Holt County. It will be the first project built under a revenue bond program set up by the 1957 Legislature.

The same bill carries $50,000 for a building to house a nuclear reactor at the Rolla School of Mines. $211,000 for the state fair, $220,000 for a deep well and reservoir at the University of Missouri and $348,660 to build and repair National Guard armories.

First Jet Tanker Lands at Whiteman

The first KC-135 jet tanker ever to land at Whiteman AFB touched down on the runway Wednesday afternoon due to foggy weather.

The plane was carrying Brig. Gen. William K. Martin, wing commander of the 45th Air Division at Loring AFB, Me., to an unannounced destination.

Two crewmen were formerly assigned to Whiteman. Maj. H. V. Markow, pilot, was assigned to the 42nd Air Refueling Squadron until March, 1957, and the navigator, 1st Lt. Wayne A. Anderson, was assigned as a navigator with the 340th Bombardment Wing until October, 1957.

The plane, a high-altitude refueler for jet bombers which extend the scope of Strategic Air Command operations, holds the world distance record for jet planes. It left Whiteman Thursday morning.

Barney Is Unimpressed

Bear Has No Fingerprints, Cautious Experts Discover

KANSAS CITY — Using chopped herring, photographic paper, dusting powder and much patience, two police department experts Wednesday fingerprinted a bear. Just as they thought: no prints.

Barney, the grizzly bear, was unimpressed by the experiments. Bears, it seems, don't have friction ridges or the sweat glands necessary in their paws to produce what in a human would be fingerprints.

Therefore, they can't leave tell-tale evidence—the kind that caused the project in the first place.

Last Sunday, Mrs. Frank E. Holtman Jr., of Merriam, Kan., found a strange print on the roof of her car. Kansas City zoo director William T. Cully said it might be from the paw of a bear.

That kind of animal is rare in these parts and to quell fears the police experts were called in. Laboratory field investigator, Cpl. Robert Wark, and chief fingerprint technician Leon Hines went to the zoo.

They had an attendant wave in front of Barney. The bear lumbered after it for a while, stepped on the dusted glossy paper and the experts grabbed it.

"It didn't leave a print," Wark said. "We had him go over it again, and again no print. Then we put him back in the cage, had the attendant wave the fish and got a good look at the paw through a magnifying glass. It was a smooth pad, like a dog's. No friction ridges, just bumps."

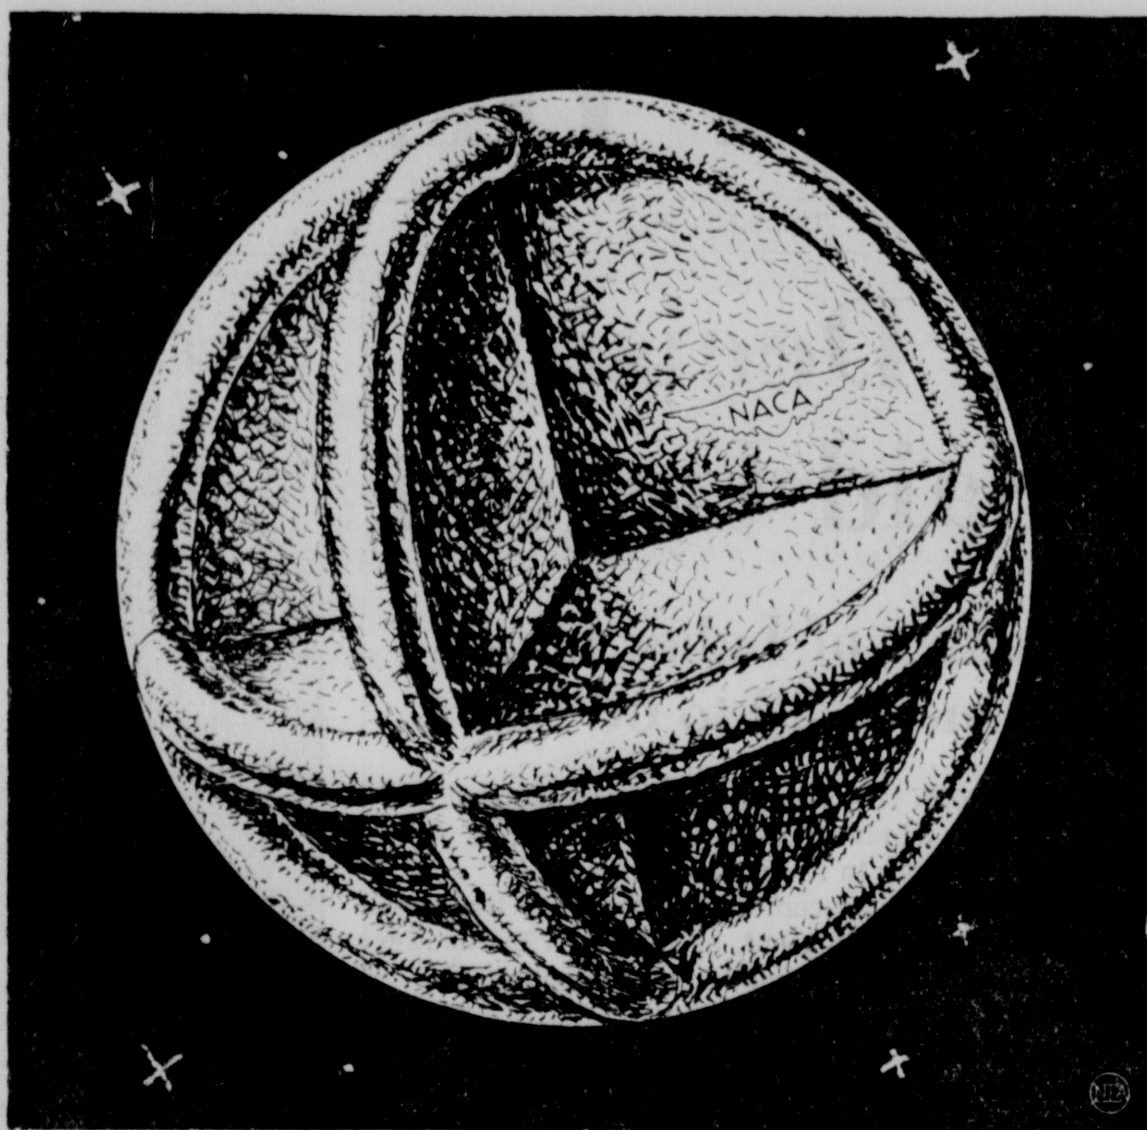

Wark then reiterated his earlier opinion that the print found by Mrs. Holtman was of an outstretched human hand.

Wark said at first he and Hines had intended to get an ink roller across Barney's paws, but Cully vetoed the idea.

"In a way, I'm glad we didn't," said Wark. "That bear was taller than I am, and I top six feet."

Hidden Assets. GREEN BAY, Wis. — Phillip La Vallee's wife died in 1953 but he's still finding what she left.

A year ago he discovered $13,000 under the upholstery of her wheel chair. Recently he found $31,100 in cash in a newspaper-wrapped cigar box, stored inside a suitcase which in turn was inside a locked trunk. La Vallee said the money came on investments and was turned over to his wife for re-investment.

CORNERING SPACE—Artist's drawing above depicts the corner reflector sub-satellite developed by the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics. The large but exceedingly lightweight earth satellite can be compactly folded for launching into orbit, and then pneumatically erected to shape by means of compressed air. It weighs only 8.7 pounds and when inflated it is 12 feet in diameter. Being in the shape of a corner reflector and covered with aluminum foil, the satellite will be the most efficient reflector of radar signals. Because of its large size, it would appear at twilight as bright as the North Star. If it were aimed so as to loop about the moon, its flight could be followed both going and returning. This would make it possible to verify calculations of the path that would be followed later by instrumental or manned space vehicles to be used for exploring space flight in the vicinity of the moon. It is constructed of Mylar plastic film 0.00025 inch thick that is covered with aluminum foil 0.0005 inch thick.

Coffee Houses Tempt Appetite

By Cecily Brownstone
Associated Press Food Editor

Coffee is a fabulous beverage. Every time we walk into one of New York's international coffee houses we're tempted to drink half a dozen cups of the brew, each served a different way.

Come with us and see what goes on!

The chemise-clad girl who looks like a model holds a pot of hot coffee in one hand and a pot of hot milk in the other. She's pouring coffee and milk into her cup at the same time. That's the brew as it is served in France—café au lait.

A table away a distinguished looking man and his attractive companion have ordered kaffee with schlag and Sacher torte, as they might in Vienna. When the large cups of strong black coffee arrive they're topped with generous helpings of snowy whipped cream.

The young girls who have just walked in settle for coffee mocha. Served in tall mugs, this combination of coffee and hot chocolate is invitingly frothy.

Several young men with Australian accents order coffee foam—made with eggs, milk, syrup and coffee whipped together. It's said to be a "down under" favorite.

Over there two older men, deep in discussion, each lift a footed glass filled with a clear brown brew and a bobbing curl of lemon peel. This is coffee espresso, made in an espresso machine or a macchinetta from Italian roast beans ground so fine that they are powdery.

We settle for cappuccino, coffee espresso with hot milk and a tantalizing suspicion of cinnamon. Want to taste this Italian version of the French café au lait?

If you are intrigued enough to whip up some of these coffee combinations at home, make sure your coffee brew is robust. Should you feel the coffee you prepare could be improved, you may wish to consider grinding the beans as you need them. An electric coffee mill that fits over the motor of an electric blender does a good job of grinding coffee. You can adjust the mechanism and have the type of grind—fine, medium or coarse—that is right for your particular coffee maker.

Our college-age nephew and a friend of his use freshly ground coffee beans for a special after-dinner offering. First they throw two whole cloves, a small cinnamon stick, a couple of thin wide strips of orange peel and four small cubes of sugar into the bottom of a drip coffee pot. Then they make double strength coffee, using 1½ measuring cups of boiling water. After the water has dripped through, they stir the brew and heat it until bubbles begin to appear around the edge. The cloves, cinnamon stick and orange peel are discarded, and the coffee is poured into demitasse cups and topped with whipped cream. This is, of course, a version of the New Orleans' café brûlot.

Tanglenook Neighbors Hold April Meeting

At the Tanglenook Neighbors meeting of April 22 a facial was given by Mrs. Jody Reine and Mrs. C. H. Williams Sr.

Eleven members were present with three guests, Mrs. Lewis Hammond, Mrs. Gordon Greer and Mrs. Janie Mott.

A food lesson will be given at the May 27 meeting which will be with Mrs. J. W. Newland.

The Chicago Symphony Orchestra was founded by Theodore Thomas in 1890.

GRIND-IT-YOURSELF: Use an electric coffee mill to grind light roast beans for cups of breakfast coffee and mugs of coffee mocha (coffee and hot chocolate), dark roast (Italian or French) beans for after dinner specialties.

Cunningham, assistant chief counsel, Division of Law, Missouri State Highway department, Jefferson City; Paul B. Cheavens, Columbia chief of police; G. B. Major, District Maintenance Engineer, Kansas City; Myer Ableman, urban engineer, Richmond Heights; and Henry G. Vogt, mayor of St. Charles.

Drivers Hold Deaths Down 20 Per Cent

Missouri motorists continued last week to hold near the twenty per cent reduction in traffic deaths acquired during the first three months of the year compared to 1957.

For the first 114 days of the year the state-wide traffic death toll stood at 224 compared to 273 for the like period of time in 1956.

The traffic fatality rate for 1958 is 32 per cent lower for the first quarter of the year than the record shattering year of 1956 when 250 people were killed in traffic mishaps during the first three months. Traffic accidents investigated by the Highway Patrol in rural areas of the state also show a sharp decline this year compared to 1956 and '57.

In 1956 during January, February and March there were 3896 rural accidents investigated, 165 of which were fatal killing 200 people. In the same period of time last year, the Highway Patrol recorded 4,117 accidents of which 139 were fatal and accounted for 173 deaths. During the first quarter of this year 3516 rural accidents were recorded, a 12 per cent reduction under last year. Ninety-two of the accidents were fatal, killing 139 people, 34 less than the corresponding period last year.

The Patrol Superintendent, Col. Hugh H. Waggoner said today that while the reduction in traffic accidents and deaths in highway mishaps is noteworthy we must not allow the present improved record to bind us to the fact that a continued war on this unnecessary evil is of vital concern to every motorist, for it is his life at stake.

Waggoner said that the formation of citizens groups for traffic safety plus the Vehicle Safety Check program, to be conducted in many Missouri communities through May, the summertime Slow Down and Live program along with energetic enforcement should materially aid motorists to hold this 20 per cent reduction in traffic deaths through the remainder of the year. "Two hundred fewer lives will be lost on the highways of the state than the 996 traffic deaths recorded in 1957," he said, "if this 20 per cent reduction becomes a reality."

Scientific investigators have found that white blood cells, called lymphocytes, from mice immunized against a specific cancer, will destroy that particular cancer when the cells and the cancer are placed together in a test tube. Conception of Southerner's Racial Attitude Inaccurate

CRUSADING FOR BROTHERHOOD—Rev. Ashton and his wife, Marie, are touring the United States in this car built especially to give publicity to the cause of brotherhood. He and his wife, through the cooperation of about 25 business concerns in Detroit, built the car in the summer of 1956. Before that time they had used four different cars to travel about half a million miles in the interest of brotherhood living.

Rev. Ashton Jones and his wife, Marie, on a tour of the nation to promote brotherhood, declared during their stay in Sedalia recently that the popular conception of the Southerner's attitude toward race relations is not accurate.

Rev. Jones, Georgia-born and educated, says he is devoting his life to battling discrimination, segregation and racial prejudice and adds that many Southerners feel the same way.

Rev. and Mrs. Jones, of Atlanta, stopped in Sedalia last weekend on their tour of the United States and were entertained by the Rev. and Mrs. J. Y. Jackson, Rev. Jackson

Lions Take Members In At Meeting

The Sedalia Lions Club held a night dinner meeting at the Old Missouri Homestead Wednesday night, at which the Lions wives were also guests. Seven members were officially taken into the club when they received the membership scroll and Lions pin.

"What the Sedalia Lions Club Means to Me" was the subject of a talk by Virgil Herrick. Herrick described the activities of the club.

Herrick pointed out the club's leadership in civic activities even in the city government. He brought out the fact that the mayor is a Lion, one of his opponents was a Lion, and a member of the City Council is a Lion.

President A. B. Warren then called upon Eli Whitney to make the installation and introduction of the seven new members. He introduced the members with their wives, after which they went to the head table to receive from President Warren their scroll and pin.

New members introduced were: M. C. "Colie" Ervin, Ray Baker, George Young, Dale Hunter, Jack Herring, and M-Sgt. Verne Kuhn. James Askren was unable to be present.

Charles Daugherty was introduced as a new member of the local club, having transferred to Sedalia.

International Counselor E. B. Smith modeled part of the new Lions state uniform which consists of a light coat with the Lions emblem on the right breast, and a large map of Missouri with the wording "Missouri Lions" on the back, along with gold and palm beach bow tie. The uniform also consists of a western style straw hat and palm beach slacks.

Re-enactment Of Dred Scott Trial Draws Big Crowd

ST. LOUIS — Re-enactment of the historic Dred Scott trial in the old courthouse in downtown St. Louis last night drew a larger crowd than the original trial in 1850.

Circuit Judge John K. Regan, who played the frock-coated Circuit Judge Alexander Hamilton of 1850, said "this was just one of 12 trials that day 108 years ago."

The court room was filled an hour before the trial started and the bar association estimated hundreds were turned away. But so many wanted to see it the cast of lawyers cut their lines short and staged a second run last night for 300 persons who waited outside.

It will be given again tonight at 8:30.

Playing the role of Dred Scott, the slave who claimed freedom because his owners had once taken him to free soil, was Dred Scott's great-grandson, John Alexander Madison of St. Louis.

It was a re-enactment of the second trial in Circuit Court in St. Louis County. Scott won his freedom in that one, but the State Supreme Court reversed the verdict on a technicality. The case eventually went to the U. S. Supreme Court, which held he had no right as a slave to sue. The first trial was held in the same courtroom.

The trial's reverberations shook the nation and in the opinion of some set the stage for the Civil War.

Oath Is Given To President Of Argentina

BUENOS AIRES — Arturo Frondizi was sworn in today as president of Argentina's first democratic government in more than a decade. He promised a rule of law and justice.

The tall, bespectacled lawyer took the oath before a joint session of the new Congress, ending 2½ years of provisional military government since the overthrow of Juan D. Peron's dictatorship.

U. S. Vice President Nixon and other visiting dignitaries watched. Alejandro Gomez, Frondizi's running mate in the left-of-center Radical Party, then was sworn in as vice-president.

Frondizi said the first bill his government will submit "will be ample and generous amnesty," and all parties will become free to carry on political activity.

To this obvious reference to the outlawed Peronista party he added that he was voted into office by the great majority of Argentine citizens, including Peron followers.

Stepping down are two heroes of the 1955 revolution, Provisional President (Maj. Gen.) Pedro Aramburu and Vice President (Adm.) Isaac Rojas. They are fulfilling a promise to turn over power to constitutionally elected officials.

Frondizi, leader of the left-of-center Intransigent Radical party, was swept into government house by an electoral landslide Feb. 23. Along with him came a Senate entirely from his party and a healthy majority in the House of Deputies.

The 49-year-old President faces a host of problems, including a runaway cost of living, a dollar deficit, nationalist demands that foreign firms keep away from Argentine oil and other resources in need of development, and the demands of Peronists — who helped elect him — for a return to political respectability.

Charged With Selling Water Cancer Cure

DETROIT — A medical doctor who ran for President on the Greenback ticket in 1944 was charged today with selling distilled water as a cure for cancer at $35 a shot.

Dr. Leo Charles Donnelly was arrested in his office Wednesday night by a raiding party which included 14 officers, two of them from the Pure Food and Drug Administration.

He was charged on seven counts of fraud which carry a maximum penalty of 32 years in jail.

Prosecutor Samuel H. Olsen said the doctor had advertised the shots through the mail as cures for cancer and sold one variety for $10 and another for $35.

The prosecutor said the arrest came after four months of investigation and chemical tests. The tests by Parke, Davis Co., Olsen said, showed the tablets to be vitamin pills. The tablets were sold for 8½ cents each.

Paratrooper Strangles On Dental Plate

FT. CAMPBELL, Ky. — Army authorities said today one paratrooper strangled to death when a partial dental plate lodged in his windpipe during a mass air drop here last week.

Maj. L. A. Breault, public information officer, said a partially completed investigation showed three other men strangled to death when parachute suspension lines tangled around their necks.

The fifth victim died of a scalp laceration, Breault said.

The officer said Pfc. Alvin L. Martinez, Santa Fe, N.M., suffocated when a three-tooth upper front denture lodged in the paratrooper's windpipe while he was being dragged along the ground by his wind-filled parachute.

Breault said suspension lines strangled Pfc. Danny J. Ruffin, Hamilton, Ohio; Pvt. Elliott F. Morley, Miami, Fla.; and Pfc. Michael E. Robles, New York City.

Specialist 3. C. Carl G. Payne, Clarksville, Tenn., died of severe scalp lacerations, Breault said.

Commandant Of Marines Fears Change

WASHINGTON — The Marine Corps commandant said today that if Congress enacts President Eisenhower's defense reorganization plan as written, some future secretary of defense may give the Marine Corps "the bum's rush."

At the same time the House Armed Services Committee received written assurance from Secretary of Defense McElroy that his department has no intention of making "a sweeping realignment of the services or their administration." He said any merger of services would be expressly forbidden by the proposed law.

"The Army, Navy, Air Force, and Marine Corps retain their respective individualities," McElroy wrote.

Gen. Randolph M. Pate, Marine Corps commandant, appeared before the committee to deliver the most outspoken opposition yet voiced by any service witness to features of the administration proposal.

Pate said he finds it difficult to see how sections of the present law which spell out the roles and missions of each service "can be regarded as unduly restrictive, other than by some future secretary of defense who intended sooner or later to alter the Marines' status and functions."

Business Group

(Continued from Page 1.) submerged once in awhile, and then along comes something like Sputnik and they go off on a money spending spree that isn't going to be headed, he feels, for a long time.

Lots of people, Stedman said, sit on dollars and think they are going to get more. When there is a surplus of inventory, like automobiles, they are going to have to clear the shelves.

Everybody has a different idea about when the recession started, he told the group, but it will start leveling off soon. You can expect to hear less about unemployment.

The real economist's viewpoint is different to the classical economist's, who insist things will get worse. The problem of the investor is very simple, for all investments can be crystallized to one procedure, Stedman said—observe carefully who gets the money and what he does with it.

In 1946 there was supposed to be a major postwar depression. There was a major break in the market. Everybody had money, nobody had automobiles, and General Motors stock tripled. When the Korean fracas came, the market went down again and cracked wide open. Money was spent on defense in planes, aluminum was needed for the planes, so Reynolds Metals went up two or three times what it had been.

In the postwar 1943-54 recession, the Federal Reserve board found it had released lots of money much too soon, and if you had bought bonds and stocks then you could have doubled your money, Stedman said. In 1954-55 almost any leading corporation would have made money, for pension funds had been pouring in, dominated by banks and insurance. This was the first wholesale buying and it became easy to make money in leading stocks.

The money, he said, is shifted and is being spent for something else, and it has been possible to increase the money 60 to 100 percent by shifting from securities that used to be popular to those that are popular at the moment.

People think of staple stocks because they are popular, such as grocery chains and tobacco—people always will eat and smoke. But if you want to make a lot of money, Stedman said, look for super stocks in the trend of things. He pointed out that at this time people are spending more money for hobbies, and photography is one leading hobby. There is a stress on leisure and recreation, and companies making things for recreation, such as bowling machines, are in a fertile field. There is a great demand all over the country for more bowling facilities.

Soft drinks, he said, is another. Today is not the time to invest in automobile stock, oil and others that are not in such great demand at the present time.

Stedman pointed out that the mutual funds companies in your own home town are excellent places to invest your money because they study the stocks and know when and how to invest. You will do just as well as if you were on Wall Street.

Stedman was accompanied to Sedalia by his assistant, Robert Barbanell.

Accompanying Dean Puckett to Sedalia was Dr. Ralph Woodward, president of Central College, and Jake Turnage.

The invocation was given by Dr. Woodward.

Rev. John Corbit of Holden, Rev. Corbit told of Rev. Nolan starting his studies for the priesthood in his native Ireland, but when he could not continue there, he began looking toward America. There was an obstacle, though, to keep him from coming over at first, the immigration law. But Rev. Nolan, he went on to say, had been chosen as an apostle and had been able to keep that promise 25 years. Through the years at St. Patrick's, Rev. Corbit said, Rev. Nolan has given communion, baptised babies, and brought people who had strayed away back to the church.

Rev. Corbit had a letter that he found in Rev. Nolan's room when he left the seminary 25 years ago and a pin that had the American flag, the Irish flag with the shamrock, symbol of the religion as taught by St. Patrick, above them.

In appreciation of the gifts and the honor given him, Rev. Nolan told the group gathered in the school hall that more than half of the 25 years of his priesthood had been spent in that church. He said that there had been a good many improvements during that time and the debt had been paid off by the members of the church, and he hoped that his spiritual aid had helped.

"This is a happy day," he said, "of which I will have fond remembrance."

Larry Riley served as master of ceremonies and led the group singing of several songs, with Herbert Berlin at the piano. The entertainment of the evening was furnished by the popular singing pair, Al Domingue and John Vanderkamp, with Mrs. Earl Paxton as accompanist.

Seated at the table with Rev. Nolan, besides Rev. Imberger, Rev. Corbit and Rev. Nugent, were the Rev. Harry Cavanaugh, assistant at St. Patrick's Church, the Rev. A. J. Brunswick, former pastor of Sacred Heart, now of Cole Camp; the Rev. Gottlieb Steinwachs of Bahner; and the Rev. Gerald Pelletier and the Rev. James Schrader, assistants at Sacred Heart.

The priests' table was centered with a large white cake, baked by Mrs. R. C. Smallwood, decorated with silver leaves and encircled with pink and white flowers. On the top was a silver "25".

At either end of the table arrangements of pink carnations, white chrysanthemums and bells of Ireland and white candles in silver holders were placed at intervals along the tables. Bouquets of flowers were also on the other tables. On the piano was a vase of pink roses and on the gift table a vase containing 25 red roses.

The benediction was given by Rev. Brunswick, after which the group sang "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You" to Rev. Nolan.

When You Set Out New Trees, You're Planting for the Future

By Mrs. Fred Brink
Garden Club No. 4

For tomorrow's sake plant trees today. Trees are the most outstanding feature of any landscape, whether on the home ground, in the public parks or along the highway.

It is the trees that give shade and beauty to the land. We have many beautiful trees—the maples, magnolia, pin oak, American elm, silver maple, ash, birch, dogwood, red bud, flowering peach and many others.

If planting a shade tree in fall or early spring, here are a few things the gardener will want to check before he makes selection of the trees.

What is its height at maturity, branch spread, rate of growth, soil preference, maintenance requirements and adaptability to our Midwestern climate?

In addition to small maples that have proved their worth in this area are Japanese maples and the red leaf maple trees grow to a height of 20 to 30 feet and are ideal for the small ranch style house.

Trees mature slowly but increase more rapidly in value than anything else you can plant.

The sugar maple presents an excellent shade tree and requires very little attention. The elm is and always has been a standard shade tree in America.

The silver maple is a fast growing shade tree that thrives on all kinds of soil. The tree is long lived and very valuable for lawn planting.

There is great demand for white birch. It produces three or more trunks from one root, and its artistic white bark and lovely green leaves make it a valuable lawn specimen.

You may not have room for a maple tree, elm or pin oak tree in your yard, but almost everyone can find room for a pink or white dogwood, crabapple, flowering dogwood or redbud. Any of these trees will be beautiful in the yard of an older house or as an accent for the long, low present-day house.

Of the three favorite small-size blooming ornamental trees, dogwood, flowering crab and redbud, it happens that all of them are native ones. By native, I mean they are to be found in the Missouri Ozarks or in the neighboring areas of our Kansas woodlands.

The native dogwood and redbud are the same as those we buy from the nurseries, but the flowering crab has been given a new personality by patient hybridizers, until only the name remains the same.

The fourth in importance, both from the financial angle and the ease of culture would be the flowering peach, and for the gardener to whom time is of no importance all of these except the crab are quickly and easily grown from seeds.

If the baby trees are to be planted elsewhere or given away, they should be taken up when only inches high, as they should send their long tap roots deep into the soil.

The redbud steals the show away from other spring bloomers.

There are many reasons why the dog wood pink and white are the

Drop CMC Tilt

S-C Tigers Win Two At Park Hill Diamond

The Smith-Cotton Tigers got back on the winning side Wednesday afternoon by sweeping a doubleheader from Park Hill of Kansas City 4-3 and 19-6 on the Park Hill diamond. The Bengals had dropped a CMC tilt to Hickman of Columbia on Tuesday.

Smith-Cotton right-hander Roger Gates held off the opponents in the seventh inning of the first game to preserve a 4-3 decision after Park Hill had scored two runs on a triple and two errors.

The Tigers took a 1-0 lead in the second inning, only to have Park Hill tie it in the third. S-C made it 3-1 in the fourth when Marshall Bryan, who had walked, scored on Don Callis' double. Callis scored following a walk by Dick Woodsmall and a single by Tom Herrick. The deciding run came in the sixth inning on singles by Garrison and Callis and a sacrifice fly by Woodsmall.

Bryan, who normally plays shortstop, pitched the second game and gave up seven runs on 12 hits, but his teammates battered three Park Hill hurlers for 19 runs on 14 hits as every Tiger starter scored one or more runs.

Smith-Cotton took a 5-1 lead in the first inning on five hits and four walks, then made it 11-1 in the second inning and were never threatened.

Smithton Wins PBCAA Track Meet

Coach Jim Shepherd's Smithton Tigers piled up 50 points Wednesday by dominating the running events to win the PBCAA conference track meet for the second consecutive year.

Paced by Tiger man Tommy Grimes, the Tigers won only five firsts, but canned enough second and third places to cop the title. Grimes was awarded the individual trophy for high point honors. He won the 220 and 100 yard dashes and placed second in the broad jump.

Kurtz and Bruns scored 12 points each to lead Green Ridge to a second place finish with a total of 90 points. Other scores were: Cole Camp 17, Hughesville 16, LaMonte 12, Warsaw 11, and Houstonia finished with a big goose eye in the scoring column. Finke scored all 12 of LaMonte's points.

The 13 girls and boys who have been chosen each month during the school year as the outstanding students at Smith-Cotton for the month were honored at the recent meeting of Smith-Cotton PTA at which Mrs. Herbert Studer, a member of the school board and who originated the idea, presented each with a certificate.

Mrs. Studer said that the PTA sponsored this program and that it began with the selecting of just one student a month chosen for his or her ability to get along with others, courtesy with classmates and teachers, willingness to cooperate in all phases of activities, willingness to obey rules, and ability to use common sense in conduct in and out of school.

The first student selected was Jim Rice, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Rice, for the month of September. The program proved so successful that, after that first month, it was increased to two students a month. For the month of October were chosen Mary Wallace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Young, and Kit Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Taylor. In subsequent months, the students chosen were: November, Janice Grimes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Grimes and Joe Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Allen; December, Judy Kay Gardner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Gardner, and Judith Ann Gardner, daughter of Mrs. Mary Gardner; January, Donna Marie Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis L. Smith, and Mike Hanigan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hanigan; February, Linda Reed, daughter of Mrs. Ina

Reed, and Perry Fairfax, son of Mrs. Lena Byram; and March, Eddie and Kay Arquitt, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Arquitt.

The most impressive thing about this award is that none of these young people were aware they were being considered, they simply use good citizenship in their every day living.

Mrs. Nathalia Poynter, PTA president, conducted the meeting. The certificates were made by Mrs. Howard Gwinn, who will be the PTA president next year. Two more students will be selected for the month of April and will be awarded their certificates at the PTA Council meeting.

GMC-UAW Bargainers Work Under Pressure

DETROIT (AP)—Negotiators for General Motors Corp. and the United Auto Workers Union go back to the bargaining table today under pressure to work out a wage settlement before midnight May 29.

That is the deadline for expiration of the present three-year contract. GM called Tuesday for a showdown this month by serving notice on the union of termination of contract. This amounted to a challenge to the union to make GM a strike target rather than Ford or Chrysler, whose contracts run out June 1.

Flies 20-Pound Cake To Alaska Wedding

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—A 20-pound, 4-tier cake has arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Myers from Alaska—about a month too late for their wedding, but with nary a crumb out of place.

Mrs. Henry M. Showalter of Anchorage, sister of the bridegroom, baked the cake and entrusted its delivery to her husband—an oft-traveling Air Force master sergeant.

He took it with him on his flights, girded inside a padded box with guy wires. The closest Showalter could get, however, was Omaha, and he sent it the rest of the way by parcel post. In honor of the cake—and in celebration of one month of marriage—another wedding reception will be held Sunday.

WSPG Commander Says No Competition

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The commander of the White Sands Proving Grounds says there is no competition between the services or duplication of effort at the missile test center.

Maj. Gen. Waldo E. Laidlaw told a Kansas City Chamber of the various services using the same equipment to avoid duplication or competition.

"We don't have the glamour of Cape Canaveral," he said. "We're the workhorse."

Cornerstones Laid For CMSC Buildings

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—Cornerstones will be laid Thursday for four of six buildings under construction on the South West Missouri State College campus.

The three-million-dollar building program was launched last fall. Cornerstone ceremonies will be held for a $650,000 classroom building to house the mathematics and foreign language departments; a $875,000 fine arts building; a $350,000 practical arts building to house the agriculture department and a men's dormitory.

Also under construction are two wings for the present women's dormitory.

Ike Insists On Principles Of His Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress seemed sure today to give President Eisenhower a defense reorganization plan. But the question was how far Congress would go with Eisenhower's stand against a basic compromise.

The President gave new evidence Wednesday night of his intention to fight for the principles of his plan, which he summed up in the phrase "safety with solvency."

Speaking at a dinner of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, Eisenhower said "we must have a single theory of defending our country" and that the strengthening of the military establishment must be done in the most economical way. He said, "I want to see America's defense machinery so strong as a single American mind and determination can make it."

The House Armed Services Committee is working on its own bill.

Testifying before the committee, Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations, spoke up for the administration bill, which would strengthen the authority of the secretary of defense and the Joint Chiefs of Staff while removing the secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force from the direct chain of command.

But Burke said the wording of the bill is such that some future administration might stretch it far enough to abolish a major unit of a service or whittle down a whole service—the Marines, for instance.

Eisenhower told a news conference he is not rigid on the wording of any reorganization bill. But he said any compromise on the basic essentials of the reorgani-

Attitude at Drills Caused KC Beating

KANSAS CITY (AP)—It was his attitude in ROTC drills, not racial trouble, that caused the beating Wednesday of a white Central High School student by four Negroes, police were told.

Four youths, taken into custody after the severe beating of Gerald Henderson, 18, said they resented his "lording it" during ROTC drills. Henderson is the sergeant of a squad which is about half Negro and half white.

In the fight at the school Henderson suffered a throat injury, but wrote the names of three of the students who beat him. The four youths, two of them 15 years old, one 16 and one 17, were taken into custody later.

They have been ordered to appear in the youth bureau with their parents on Saturday. None were charged.

zation plan would mean a retreat to a dangerous degree of military ineffectiveness.

STILL GOING STRONG AT 132—Swami Govind Bharti, better known in Kathmandu, Nepal, as Swami Shivapuri, claims to be 132 years old. The spry Swami, who attributes his long life to a vegetarian diet, lots of mental rest, and little physical labor, says he has traveled all over the world, including visits to Russia, England and the United States. The Swami says that "the cities of New York and Washington were still under expansion by hard-working people" when he visited them. He sleeps only two hours a day and subsists on a pint and a half of fresh cow's milk a day.

Supports Benson Forecast

General Farm Prices Level As of April 15 Rise Again

WASHINGTON (AP)—Record high prices for fruits and vegetables and substantial rises in prices of cotton and some feed grains sent the general level of farm prices up another 1.14 per cent during the month ended April 15.

This increase came on top of a 4 per cent upturn in March and strengthened Secretary of Agriculture Benson's forecast that farm income in 1958 would top that of 1957 by from 5 to 10 per cent.

Aiken Thinks 4-Day Week Might Help

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) said today Congress should study the feasibility of a four-day work week, at least in some industries, as a possible cure and preventive of recessions.

He said it should be considered along with the ideas of a guaranteed annual wage and profit sharing for workers in industries which have periodic layoffs. He mentioned the automobile industry as one.

Aiken emphasized in an interview that he is not suggesting a quick switch to any of these ideas, but added: "Eventually we've got to consider it, and I think we should consider it now."

Both the current business slump and prospects that many industries will need fewer workers in the future indicate, he said, that there is a need for something more than hurry-up steps to get people back on payrolls after recessions have thrown them out of jobs.

Aiken said automation in some sections of industry has led or is leading to a situation in which a peacetime economy just can't keep the available work force employed on a 40-hour week the year around.

The Agriculture Department reported that farm prices increased 1.14 per cent from mid-March to mid-April to a level 9.84 per cent above that of a year ago. The new level was the highest since January 1953, when the Eisenhower administration took office.

A report from the Commerce Department, meanwhile, showed that sales and new orders at the manufacturers' level rose last month but not as much as is normal for this time of year. That meant that on a seasonally adjusted basis they declined a little.

Adlai E. Stevenson, twice the Democratic candidate for president, joined the list of those calling for tax cuts to pep up the economy.

After a speech in Chicago, he told newsmen, "I have been against it because of the deficit, but we have reached the point now where we're going to have to have it."

Pilots Assn. Meets May 3 In Sedalia

John E. Pennell, president of the Missouri Pilots Association, will conduct the two-day annual convention which opens in Sedalia Saturday May 3, at the Bothwell Hotel.

Pennell whose home is in Independence, is commissioner of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, is a charter member of MPA, a member of the board of directors since 1955 and is associated with three other pilots in the operation of the Independence airport.

He learned to fly in 1953 and was elected president of the Missouri Pilots Association in May, 1957 to serve until May, 1958.

More than 100 Missouri fliers are expected to be in attendance, and indications are there will be in the neighborhood of 75 privately owned planes flown into Sedalia. The planes will land at the Sedalia Municipal Airport on Saturday and will be "tied down" until departure time Sunday.

The highlight of the convention will be Col. Roscoe Turner, pioneer racing pilot, who will be the principal speaker at the banquet at the Bothwell Hotel at 6:30 o'clock Saturday night.

Registration begins at 9 a. m. Saturday. The business meeting will follow at 10 o'clock.

Dale Fearn of the Missouri Resources and Development Commission will be the speaker at the luncheon which will be held at 12:30 o'clock at the Bothwell.

Sunday the delegation will visit Whiteman Air Force for a tour of the base and luncheon. The fliers will then "take-off" for their homes.

Auto Dealers Seek to Aid Confidence

CLEVELAND (AP)—Restore customers' shaky confidence and the recession is dead.

That's the theory of two Cleveland automobile dealers, Leo J. Conway and David Blaushild, who are whooping it up for bigger and better sales efforts by retailers, particularly new car salesmen.

"The money is there," Blaushild contends, "and the public wants to buy. But they're afraid."

"Really a pair of workers," President Eisenhower said after a half-hour meeting at the White House last week with the two businessmen who originated the "You Auto Buy Now" idea, which has spread nationally. The President agreed better salesmanship could spark economic recovery.

They told Eisenhower of their plan to post manufacturers' suggested prices on new cars. Dealers would be bonded to assure the prices were quoted properly.

The idea of a firm price and bonded dealers, Eisenhower said later at his news conference, would assure that "this business of undercutting and every other kind of bad practice will not keep people from buying.

"If everybody knows what he has to pay, and these people are so bonded, then confidence tends to go up."

Preaching hope in the economic future, Conway and Blaushild returned home and convinced the 138-member Cleveland Auto Dealers Assn. to adopt the plan. It goes into effect here next week, Blaushild said.

The 62-year-old Conway and Blaushild, 41, have been friends for years. They also are competitors. Their showrooms in suburban Shaker Heights are less than two blocks apart.

Report on Atomic Fallout Given At Homemakers Club

Mrs. C. A. DeHaven was in charge of the meeting with Mrs. George Foster giving the devotional. The monthly news letters were read by Mrs. Roy Maples and Mrs. Paul Gottschalk. Mrs. J. E. Faris, civil defense leader, gave a report on atomic fallout effects on the farm. Plans for the show-off show were discussed.

The club voted to replace the piano in the clubhouse and Mrs. Bruce Richey and Mrs. D. E. Edwards were selected to purchase another.

The speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. Savana de LaMonte, gave an interesting talk on "English Homes and Customs."

The next meeting will be on

Europe Is Dead Culturally, Insists Record Firm Head

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (P)—Europeans who like to say America has no culture get a quick debate from Beverly Merrill.

"Actually, Europe is dead culturally," she insists. "It is a great schoolhouse, but more is now happening culturally here. We are the new center of Western culture." Miss Merrill, dark-eyed and attractive, can approach the subject with some perspective. At 30 she is sole owner and manager of a phonograph recording firm which for the first time in history is recording in its entirety some of the great forgotten music of the Middle Ages. Her projected 10-album series of medieval melodies has aroused the praise of musicologists throughout the world.

No really scholarly job of recording music of this period had been attempted before Miss Merrill founded her firm. "Today it is definitely long, longhair music," she said. "But merely because it is old. The tunes are still fresh and lovely. It is mainly religious music, and some was composed to be performed in certain cathedrals or chapels."

One of her prizes is the first known English love song, "Bird on the Brier."

One of the stanzas reads: "I'm so happy, bright bird on the brier."

"When I see that gracious lady, 'She is white of limb, lovely, true."

"She is fair, the flower of all." Wrinkling her own pert nose, Miss Merrill remarked, smilingly: "It is easy to see that love songs haven't changed much."

The music isn't simple. An ordinary commercial record of modern music is made in six hours. Miss Merrill's artists rehearse up to two or three months, then spend three evenings to make a recording.

"The farther back most music goes the more difficult it is to perform," she said. "It really tests the talent of the most gifted singers and instrumentalists."

Advance Enrollment For Summer Session At CMSC Is Greater

Advance enrollment from Pettis County for the summer session at Central Missouri State College starting June 9 indicate a usual number of students from this area, according to Dr. Harold L. Young, director of field service for the college. Enrollment from Pettis County last summer was 119.

Summer session students will have 225 course offerings from which to select a program. A special bulletin just issued by the college shows a wide variety of course offerings for the summer.

While the education department offers the largest number of summer courses all departments at CMSC will offer classes. Nine courses will be given at Branson where the college has a summer workshop. Five courses are in dramatics and four in journalism.

Housing for the summer session at CMSC will be available in the new Houts Residence Hall for women and in Osborne Hall for men where study rooms are air conditioned.

"But what this music has in it is an extraordinary sense of peace. People hear it and feel it." This may explain why, although most of the people who buy the records are members of the professional or intellectual classes, the appeal is slowly spreading. "Even the dyed-in-the-wool jazz fans are getting interested," said Miss Merrill. "because this music marks the beginning of improvisation in a jazz sense."

The Recipe
Sift together 1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour, 2 teaspoons Clabber Girl Baking Powder, and ¼ teaspoon salt. Cream together ¾ cup butter, 1¼ cups firmly packed brown sugar, 1½ teaspoons vanilla extract, and ¾ teaspoon almond extract. Add 2 tablespoons water and 1 egg yolk; beat well. Add dry ingredients; stir until well blended. Pack dough into empty 1-pound butter carton, 5 x 2½ x 2½ inches. Chill in refrigerator several hours. Remove dough from carton; slice about ¼ inch thick with a sharp, thin-bladed knife. Place cookies on baking sheet. Cut each cookie in half to form rectangles; separate cookies 1 inch apart. Beat 1 tablespoon water and 1 egg white together until just combined; brush over cookies; sprinkle with nutmeg. Bake in 375° F. (moderate) oven about 12 minutes. Cool. Yield: 5 dozen cookies.

Titles In Fiction Received Are High On Demand List

Quite a few good titles in fiction were received at the Boone-Lick Regional Library last week. Among those are some which were highly demanded by our patrons and subsequently will be enjoyed very much.

"Not by Bread Alone" by Vladimir Dudintsev is an explosive Russian novel which presents in its perfect translation from the original text one of the most significant documents of our time. It was published by a Russian literary magazine and it had sensational and immediate reception in Russia. The wonderfully human story is told in the manner of the great Russian writers of the past—it is a story of love and courage and the integrity of the human spirit.

"The Bridge Over the River Kwai" by the French author Pierre Boulle is written with the most outstanding skill, is adventurous and jumpy with suspense. It is the magnificent story of Colonel Nicholson, who built a perfect bridge—for the enemy. "The Green Helmet" by Jon Cleary introduces the reader to the professional auto racing on the great courses of Europe. It combines thrill and excitement of the track with the stirring drama of a family whose lives are deeply involved in it.

Finally, "Anatomy of a Murder," the story of a man who felt his world had come to an end, provides good reading filled with suspense and entertainment.

This week's bookmobile schedule:

Friday, May 2, Unit 1 (Benton County)—Fordney, 9:00; Poplar, 10:30; Feaster, 11:30; Edmondson, 1:00; Dillon, 2:00.

Pancake Can Become a Creation

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Oh my, the things that have happened to the good old American pancake. Once upon a time it made its main appearance at breakfast. Nowadays it's likely to show up at lunch or dinner. Some people may call this creative cooking — but what's in a name so long as the pancakes taste good?

Lunch first, if you please. When guests are coming, buttermilk pancakes may be made large size and stuffed with crabmeat a la king. Pancakes and stuffing may be prepared ahead — even the night before — and be reheated in the oven without any watching, no fuss and feathers. What to serve with this luncheon dish? Add a salad of crisp greens, grapefruit and unpeeled red apple sections. Dress the salad with olive oil and wine vinegar and food-loving friends will be fed bountifully.

HIGH-STYLE PANCAKES: The pancake, once limited to breakfast-time appearances, is stepping out in culinary society. For a luncheon dish, these buttermilk pancakes have been stuffed with crabmeat filling.

And now to dinner. Buckwheat pancakes are made dollar size and offered, topped with red caviar and sour cream, as a fancy first course. Or small rich thin pancakes, made from ordinary flour, arrive for dessert along with sun-baked strawberry preserves and spoonfuls of sweet heavy cream.

You may prepare the butter-

Acreage Payment May Be Lost Through Scheme

Farmers taking part in the Soil Bank's 1958 Acreage Reserve program were reminded today that schemes or devices which would tend to defeat the purpose of the Reserve agreement may result in the loss of the entire payment which would otherwise have been earned for "reserving" acreage under the plan.

In explaining this particular provision of the Acreage Reserve program, C. A. Staples, chairman, Pettis County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, cited an example of such a "scheme or device to defeat the purpose of the agreement."

"Such an instance would be where a producer with an Acreage Reserve agreement on one farm for a crop such as corn knowingly produced corn on another farm substantially in excess of the normal corn acreage on that farm," the chairman declared.

For corn covered by 1958 Acreage Reserve agreements, Staples further explained, a producer will be considered to have "knowingly exceeded the normal acreage by a substantial amount" if he exceeds by more than 19 per cent the larger of (1) the allotment, or (2) the highest acreage devoted to the commodity on the farm in the years 1956 or 1957.

The chairman said that where there is any violation of an Acreage Reserve Agreement, the producer may lose part or all of the compensation under the agreement, depending upon the kind and the extent of the violation.

Ends Army Basic

Army Pvt. Raymond L. Johnson, 22, of Warsaw, recently completed eight weeks of basic combat training with the 2nd Armored Division at Ft. Hood, Texas. Johnson attended Warsaw high school and worked for the Missouri Public Service Co. in Raytown as a civilian. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray S. Johnson, live in Warsaw.

milk pancakes for the luncheon dish from scratch or you may use the buttermilk pancake mix that now comes in a package. Here is how to use the mix with the crabmeat filling.

PANCAKES WITH CRABMEAT A LA KING

Ingredients: 1/2 cup chopped green pepper, 1/2 cup chopped celery, 4 tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons flour, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 2 cups light cream, 1 can (6 ounces) sliced broiled mushrooms, cup chopped pimiento, 2 cans (6 1/2 ounces each) king crabmeat, 10 to 12 buttermilk pancakes.

Method: Lightly cook green pepper and celery in butter in 2 quart saucepan; stir in flour and salt. Add cream; cook gently and stir constantly until thickened. Add drained mushrooms, pimiento and crabmeat (cartilage removed). Place some filling over center of each pancake and overlap two edges. Arrange in one layer in baking dish; top with remaining filling. Cover and reheat at once, or after refrigeration, in moderate (350 degrees) oven 15 to 25 minutes. To make Pancakes: Beat 1 egg until ivory color. Add 1 cup milk, 1 cup buttermilk pancake mix and 1 tablespoon butter (melted). Shake or beat until there are no large flour lumps. Use 3 tablespoons batter for each pancake; pour close to hot lightly greased griddle.

VEGETABLE COOKERY

Deep skillets with dome-type covers make perfect vegetable cookers. Because the covers fit tightly, they help retain moisture during the cooking, and only a small amount of water need be used. Broccoli and asparagus stalks may be laid flat in such a skillet, and if their fibrous outer covering has been pared off, tops and bottoms of the vegetables will cook in the same time.

If You Must Complain...

People are such complainers. We suppose, however, if there were no complaints nothing ever would get done.

Commenting on this subject recently Dr. Jesse C. Burt in the Journal of Lifetime Living stated there is an art to making a complaint effective and offers five suggestions:

"Make sure your complaint is specific and coherent. Be clear in your own mind what you want to say before you say it.

"Make certain your complaint is just. Be honest with yourself. Do you really have a grievance, or do you merely want attention?

"Make your complaint an act of service to others as well as yourself. The person who WANTS to offend you is rare. If your complaint is made in such a way as to give the other person a chance to correct his error, he'll usually do it and appreciate having it pointed out to him.

"Watch your timing. A complaint in itself may arouse irritation, so don't complicate matters by making it when the other individual is tired, upset or in an unpleasant mood.

"Be fairly certain something can be done about your complaint before you make it. Otherwise, don't complain. Think things through before you make yourself and others miserable with grouching and griping."

We like that paragraph about "watch your timing," to avoid irritation. Nevertheless, with the dawn of May it is apropos to suggest Sedalia's streets remain in terrible condition. Let alone building new ones, to repair and maintain the old ones is going to require the spending of considerable cash on the part of the city.

As repeatedly said before the weather was unkind to Sedalia streets this past winter just as it was to those in many other localities. For instance in Warrensburg 289 tons of dirt have already been taken off the streets there in the past three weeks. April rains slowed down this work the same as it did in Sedalia. "The winter and spring have been exceptionally rough on Warrensburg streets and holes which were filled when it was thought snow and freezing weather were at an end," says the Star-Journal.

Even the streets of Tampa, Florida suffered as the Tribune there comments: "The average Tampa is avidly looking for a stretch of weather approaching normalcy. Not to be forgotten are the public officials entrusted with maintaining streets and roads. These heavy rains have caused many thoroughfares literally to go to pot (holes). Maintenance budgets reach only so far.

That's it—those maintenance budgets!

If there's any complaint about inadequate allocation of funds to fix up Sedalia's streets let's review the rules of Dr. Burt on how to make such a complaint effective.

Smithsonian May Get Hope Diamond

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The Smithsonian Institution, sometimes called the nation's attic because of its accumulated relics, has made a secret deal to buy the world-famous Hope diamond as a spectacular attraction for its new mineral hall which opens this summer.

The Smithsonian is reported ready to trade several industrial diamonds for the supposedly jinxed jewel, once was worn by Catherine the Great of Russia and last owned by the late Evalyn Walsh McLean, author of "Father Struck It Rich," who dominated the Washington social scene for many years and whose husband was a close friend of President Harding. A Smithsonian spokesman refused to comment on the deal except to say that an announcement might be expected in a few weeks.

The McLean estate reportedly had been unable to sell the Hope diamond because of a superstition that it brought bad luck. Mrs. McLean herself believed in its bad-luck reputation, yet she clung to the jewel.

Her son was run over by an automobile, her husband died in an insane asylum, and her only daughter died of an overdose of sleeping pills.

When Mrs. McLean was asked why she didn't get rid of the diamond, she explained that it would only bring bad luck to someone else.

After her death, Supreme Court Justice Frank Murphy and ex-trustbuster Thurman Arnold, executors of her will, found the famous diamond, plus $4,000,000 worth of other jewelry, stowed in shoeboxes in Mrs. McLean's bedroom.

At the Smithsonian, the Hope diamond will join 44,000 assorted relics, ranging from 450,000-year-old fossils to a 1935 jukebox. Less than 1 per cent of this tremendous collection, however, is on public display.

Note—At one time, the Soviet government made overtures to retrieve the Hope diamond along with other jewels that once belonged to Catherine the Great. The former Russian empress died of apoplexy after a tragic marriage and a controversial career.

Harry Vaughan's Medal

It's been exactly 10 years since Gen. Harry Vaughan, President Truman's military aide, was given a medal by Dictator Peron of Argentina, and since I picked the Argentine embassy in protest. I felt foolish doing so at the time. Also it was rainy and the rain dripped down my neck.

The aftermath was President Truman's famous words making me a charter member of the "sons of brotherhood," and the refusal of Congress to O.K. the medal for Vaughan. Under the first article of the Constitution he was not permitted to receive a medal from a foreign power without special permission from Congress, and Congress refused that permission.

Ten years have passed and Congress now has the Harry Vaughan medal up for reconsideration. General Vaughan is no longer in military service. General Peron is no longer ruler of Argentina. And I for one hope Congress lets General Vaughan have his medal. It will be a memento of those good old days when he was a dashing military figure around the nation's capital.

ARCHBOLD (Ohio) BUCKEYE: Hybrid Minds Aid Progress. In recent years American farmers have greatly increased their corn yields by use of hybrid seed.

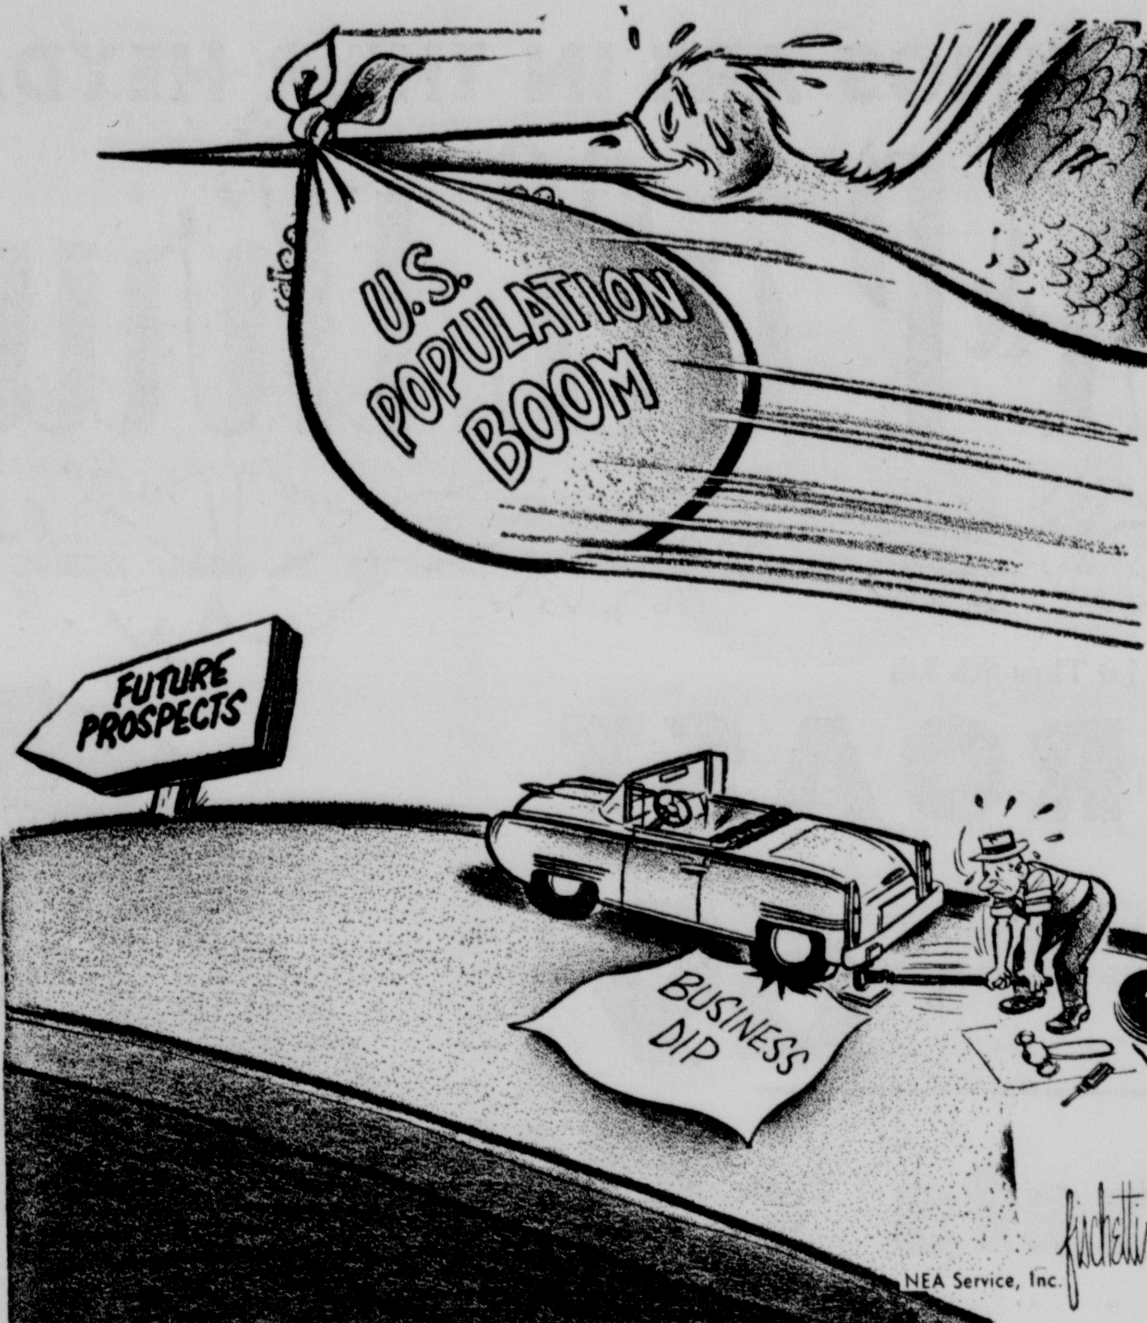

As man progresses, and we look back upon the story of his mental development, it was the hybrid minds of great writers, statesmen and instructors as well as leaders like Isaac Newton, noted for his discovery of the law of gravitation, who said:

"If I have seen farther than other men it is because I have stood on the shoulders of giants."

Like many other men who have left their mark on the pages of history in science, art and literature—leadership was developed by learning from the mental prowess and accomplishments of others.

Finding this knowledge and putting it to better use in this new age when men seek a greater understanding of science and mathematics to meet the challenge of a space age is the aim of educational leaders who are searching for new ideas to spark a thirst for greater knowledge in the minds of our youth of today.

No Floor Action Likely on Court Bill

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Congress will blaze if the bill approved Wednesday by the Senate Judiciary Committee gets out on the floor for debate. But the chances are that it won't reach the floor.

The measure would curb the Supreme Court and undo the effects of some of its decisions on Communist cases. Southern Democrats, led by Sen. Eastland (D-Miss.), and conservative Republicans, led by Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.), teamed up to okay it.

This bill has four parts. Here's a rundown, with background.

1. In 1957 the Supreme Court freed John T. Watkins, who had been found guilty of contempt of Congress for refusing to answer — on the grounds it wasn't pertinent to the investigation — a question put to him by the House Committee on Un-American Activities. He appealed his conviction to the court.

The court ruled a congressional committee's investigating power is not unlimited; that it can't ask just any kind of question; and a witness can't be held in contempt of Congress for not answering a question that is not pertinent to the investigation.

The bill says: A man convicted of contempt of Congress — for refusing to answer a question he considers not pertinent — can't appeal to the court if the committee asking the question says it is pertinent.

This would give any congressional committee the enormous power of a hunting license. In short, any committee could ask any kind of question, pertinent or not, so long as it said the question was pertinent.

Looking Backward...

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

W. L. Noah, postoffice inspector formerly with headquarters in Sedalia, more recently of St. Louis, was promoted to chief of the St. Louis bureau of postoffice inspectors.

1933

The Missouri Pacific was to have 800 men working there just as soon as work could be adjusted. The plan was to turn out 12 engines during the month of May which were in for repair.

1933

Mrs. Sina Shinkle Smith Bothwell, wife of Conrad H. Bothwell, died at the family home, 710 West Broadway Monday, May 1.

1933

J. W. Lemon, superintendent of the Missouri Pacific shops, was in St. Louis Saturday on company business.

FORTY YEARS AGO

John A. Collins, newly elected police judge, and Norman L. Nelson, city clerk, took over duties of those offices Wednesday morning, succeeding S. C. Fuller and E. L. Hackett.

1918

W. Rothmeyer, road foreman of engines, succeeded M. Lamar as MKT trainmaster. P. H. Hanley, roadmaster, was named to fill the vacancy of Mr. Rothmeyer.

1918

Clyde Pfunder returned from Camp Funston, Kan., where he had been visiting his brother, Orville Pfunder, in the infantry there.

1918

The Rev. Emmett Davison, pastor of the LaMonte Christian Church, was offered a position as a YMCA worker with the U.S. military forces overseas.

2. In 1957 the court also ruled a state does not have the right to bar a man from law practice simply because at some previous time he had been a Communist party member. The court ruled twice on this issue.

One involved a man just graduating from the University of New Mexico law school, the other just graduating from the law school of the University of Southern California. Both had been blocked from practicing law by the examining bar committees of their states.

One of the men admitted having been a Communist years before; the other balked at questions as to whether he had been a Communist. A string of witnesses testified to the good character of both men. But the bar committees decided both were questionable characters.

They appealed to the Supreme Court under the 14th Amendment, which guarantees no man shall be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law. The court said they had been denied due process.

The bill says: In the future the Supreme Court could not hear such appeals. In short: each state would decide for itself who could practice law, whether or not the decision might be unconstitutional.

3. In 1956 the court said states no longer could prosecute people for subversion against the United States. The reason given: because the federal government has a law — the Smith Act — to handle cases like that and the federal law supersedes the state laws.

In this case the court threw out the conviction of Steve Nelson, an acknowledged Communist, who had been found guilty of subversion in a Pennsylvania state court, where he was tried under state law.

The bill says: The states—42 of them have subversion laws of some kind—shall have the right to try people for subversion against the United States.

4. In 1952 fourteen California Communists had been convicted of plotting to teach and advocate the forcible overthrow of the government. The Supreme Court in 1957 threw out five of the convictions and ordered the other nine retried.

Justice Harlan, writing the majority opinion, said the trial judge had failed to point out the distinction between talking about overthrowing the government as an "abstract principle" and advocating action to bring it about.

He said "preaching abstracted-

IN ST. LOUIS FOR a convention a Sedalia woman found a dress she liked and bought it. It was just the thing for one of the nice social affairs of the convention. She dressed all up and thought she looked very nice for the occasion in the new dress, then she slipped on her shoes and went on down to where the party was being held.

As she sat there chatting with some friends, one of them suddenly exclaimed: "Marie, you've got two kinds of shoes on."

She looked down and, sure enough, she had on a black shoe and a blue shoe. Both pairs had been sitting on the floor close together, she had merely slipped her feet into the shoes without looking at them. It never occurred that the two shoes weren't mates. H.L.

Advances And Retreats

Military Reorganization Plan Gets Mixed Treatment

By Joseph A. Dear
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Last week Ike turned red and then white with rage because a question at his press conference reflected what he obviously considers stupid and unfair criticisms of his military reorganization plan.

The heart of these criticisms is that Ike's plan is so broad that it would enable some future Defense Secretary and/or President to create a personal military force by abolishing the traditional services.

At the very moment Ike was blowing his stack, Defense Secretary McElroy, who was testifying before the House Armed Services Committee, where Ike's critics are concentrated, began a strategic retreat. McElroy said he would consider changes in the plan which would assure the continuation of the separate services even if some of their units are assigned to unified commands.

McElroy also junked one administration argument: that the plan would cut the defense bill. He conceded that no major economies were likely by reason of its approval.

The Secretary's withdrawal to a new, but unprepared, line continued Friday. He opened the door to substantial changes in Ike's plan by agreeing that its language was "unnecessarily broad."

This was followed by a flurry from Augusta, to which Ike had come perilously close to conceding the whole show. So Ike reiterated his determination to fight for the essentials of the plan.

That brings up an interesting question. What parts of it are essential? One aim of the administration, according to McElroy, is to eliminate command ambiguities of the present set-up. Hence the very broad language, of which the House Armed Services Committee is critical, that might enable the Defense Secretary to incorporate one service with another.

The nature of modern warfare is at the root of the problem. As Ike has said, any future campaign would involve each of the services in a combined operation. Practically speaking, a combined operation demands a unified command. Building up the unified command would mean assigning units from each of the services. The administration wants to be sure that the boss of the combined operation has a clear command over all the units which make it up, no matter which service the units are drawn from.

It might be argued, of course, that this could be achieved by the President himself. For he is the commander-in-chief of all the armed services, and presumably could establish a chain of command by direct order.

But that's not the whole story. With the weapons system available today, a "campaign" or "operation" goes quite beyond something as simple as the seizure of an island. Many men and vast amounts of complex equipment located in various corners of the globe would be loosed on enemy targets in other corners of the globe. Advance planning of a very high order is essential to the success of such an operation.

To get at this problem, Ike has proposed enlarging the operational planning staff in the office of the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs. Congress is wary of this proposal. It has been denounced as an effort to "Prussianize" the Pentagon by centralizing control of plans under the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs.

Whether Ike could get at this problem directly in his capacity as Commander-in-Chief is doubtful. In the past, planning for combined operations has been conducted by temporary staffs drawn from the participating services. This system did work in the last war, but if it is clear and can be demonstrated that it is inadequate to present demands, reform must come.

And the reform Ike has suggested certainly is logical. It would, of course, tend to widen the gap between planning and execution, but there is hazard in any reform.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Diefenbacher, D.D.

Chains for tires were used on many cars during the past winter. Sections of the country which had not experienced snow for many years found themselves subjected to unusual periods of inclement weather. Many people fastened these protective chains to their tires where such equipment had seldom before been used.

Many cars skidded into ditches. Some slid into each other. Chains were used to diminish the dangers of skidding and to give traction when the wheels would not have otherwise moved the car.

Of course, riding was less comfortable, but safety was valued above smooth riding.

Certain moral precautions may seem to make life less comfortable than merely following the line of least resistance. Yet these protective measures keep us from skidding into a morass of spiritual degradation.

What They Say

O. L. Scott (Standard Oil Co. sales representative, Sedalia) — Motorists run the risk of harmful engine knock, lower mileage, lack of power, and engine breakdown if they fail to drain permanent type antifreeze from their automobile cooling system each spring.

Automotive engineers have found that poor engine cooling, due to summertime use of permanent type antifreeze, scale and dirt deposits, increases the gasoline octane requirement for proper engine performance. An octane increase up to five units may be required. For many cars, this is the difference between using regular and premium gasoline. It is false economy to keep antifreeze in an automobile cooling system from one winter through the next. The system should be cleaned, flushed, and rust inhibitor added.

The possible contamination of motor oil by permanent type antifreeze is a hazard also. Such contamination can result in serious trouble inside an engine, causing stuck pistons or piston seizures. It takes only a small amount to stick hydraulic valve lifters. A test of 16,000 oil change samples showed that in 35 per cent of the samples antifreeze had leaked into the oil system and threatened engine performance.

Sure Sign of Spring

Green asparagus is a good source of Vitamin "A" and ascorbic acid, as well as Vitamin "B", niacin, phosphorus and iron. White or bleached asparagus has relatively little Vitamin "A". Fresh, frozen, and canned asparagus are similar in food value when they are cooked according to recommended methods.

Asparagus should be fresh, tender and firm with close compact tips. A tender stalk is brittle and easily punctured. A wilted appearance or a spreading tip is often an indication that considerable time has elapsed since cutting.

Look for a deep green or bluish-green color in the tips; avoid offerings with an excessive amount of white stem for they are likely to be dry, withered and tough. Angular stalks, too, are likely to be tough and stringy.

It is particularly important that asparagus has been kept cold and moist at all stages of marketing. It loses edibility very quickly when exposed to dryness and heat. The whole stalk, with the exception of an inch or two of the base, should be tender. The small amount of white at the base helps to preserve moisture in the green part.

Plan Housekeeping

Your housekeeping can be less fatiguing when you control it with a schedule instead of letting it control you. Schedule your household duties over a period of time, setting aside a definite time for each major task.

The purpose of a schedule is not to chain you to your duties, but to keep housekeeping in its place—to keep up with it rather than to catch up with it. Always be prepared to adjust the schedule to new events.

After the schedule is made you need to analyze your work habits, eliminate time-wasting motions and notions. Make your work more interesting by using your brain instead of your body.

Here's a hint. Pre-position your equipment and supplies. For example, if you are washing dishes, keep detergents, scouring powder, dish cloths, or sponge, and brushes at the sink. If you are using the vacuum cleaner, assemble all the tools, wear a cobbler's apron, have a cleaning basket filled with tools, brushes and dust cloths.

Sit to work whenever possible. Iron at a sitdown ironing board. A chair on casters and a clothes rack nearby can simplify this task. If you are preparing vegetables have a pull-out lap board on a table of the proper height so you may sit down to do the job.

And, use both hands to do the job. When dusting, use a cloth in each hand. When making a bed make the best use of both hands.

Don't forget the children in your family when you are making a work schedule. They should be given chores. Complement them when their work deserves it.

Don't forget to plan time for rest periods—at least ten minutes each hour are at work. Have a rocking chair, a place to stretch out and your favorite reading materials close at hand.

Work your schedule over from time to time. Look at it realistically, don't be a perfectionist. Who will remember a year from now if there is a speck of dust under one of your beds? The memory of a warm, radiant, happy person will live on for years.

Control Center Will Be Used In 'Operation Alert'

Dean Lupkey, State Civil Defense Director, announced today that the Missouri Civil Defense Agency will operate its control center during "Operation Alert 1958." The nationwide exercise will be held on May 6 and 7 for a 12 hour period each day.

Lupkey stated that civil defense officials will receive sealed envelopes containing the locations of ground zero, size of weapon and other pertinent information, to be opened at the time specified on the envelope.

Governor James T. Blair, Jr., recently sent a letter to all state department heads encouraging their cooperation in "Operation Alert 1958." Nearly 150 state employees will actively assist in the test exercise and will operate in conformance with the recently developed state survival plan.

The test exercise is being conducted to test the readiness of the state, to meet a nuclear attack and to provide training for state governmental personnel who have been assigned civil defense functions.

Russia Under Pressure

Offers Compromise
On Inspection Area

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States offered Thursday to consider cutting down its H-bomb flights in the Arctic if the Soviet Union accepts the U. S. North Pole inspection plan.

Secretary of State Dulles made the proposal at a news conference. He emphasized that Soviet acceptance or rejection will affect the question of whether President Eisenhower goes to a summit conference.

Dulles' olive branch mood matched that of Eisenhower at a news conference Wednesday. The President said that he felt more sadness than anger at Russia's derisive rejection of his Arctic inspection plan and at Soviet outcries against U. S. nuclear alert flights in the Arctic.

Dulles disclosed new secret approaches to the Soviets, in Washington and New York, in an effort to sell the Soviets on the proposal. If accepted, he said, the proposal could mark a turning point in the cold war and possibly bring further disarmament agreements.

While Dulles' news conference dealt mostly with this issue, he also said:

1. The United States hopes to have normal friendly relations with the United Arab Republic—that U. S. release of 26 million dollars in foreign Egyptian assets was almost automatic when President Nasser reached agreement on compensating former owners of the Suez Canal.

2. President Eisenhower has not yet decided whether to suspend nuclear tests after this summer's series in the Pacific, but the question is being closely studied.

Britain Depends On Ike for a Warning

LONDON (AP)—The House of Commons got a report Thursday that President Eisenhower is in touch with the U. S. Air Force even while he plays golf.

Prime Minister Macmillan was told he should take a tip from the President and carry a portable radio set.

The idea came from a Laborite, Mrs. Barbara Castle, who noted that Eisenhower is always in contact with Strategic Air Command headquarters at Omaha.

Macmillan ignored the radio suggestion and said American preparedness should be a source of satisfaction to Britain. He was sure the United States would notify Britain in a crisis.

Katy Flyer
Completes
Final Run

Ceremonies Mark
Last Trip From
St. Louis to Parsons

PARSONS, Kan. (AP)—The Katy Flyer was a passenger train with clipped wings Thursday as it pulled into the Parsons terminal at the end of its last run—late as usual but understandably so this time.

All along the route from St. Louis, Mo., to Parsons, the Missouri-Kansas-Texas train was delayed for picture making and other ceremonies marking the final eight decades of continuous operation.

One such ceremony was in Nevada, Mo. Members of a coffee club boarded the train at Schell City, Mo., and rode it to Nevada. There, Mayor Everett Armitage, Councilman Don Kennedy and State Rep. Robert Crawford made brief speeches.

The westbound Flyer, No. 5, arrived in Parsons an hour behind schedule. Its counterpart, the eastbound No. 6, left Parsons on its concluding trip to St. Louis last night. It was more than 2½ hours late when it reached there this morning.

Authority for suspension of the two passenger trains, effective at 12:01 a. m. today, was granted by the Missouri Public Service Commission and the Kansas Corporation Commission. Citizen and patron groups in both states opposed the discontinuance at public hearings. The railroad said the two trains were running $120,000 a year in the red.

Freight service will continue over the line.

Historically, the Flyers—once the pride of the line in the Katy's passenger operations from St. Louis to Texas—pre-date the city of Parsons.

A passenger train arrived in this area Feb. 5, 1871, from Sedalia, Mo., over the then new Katy tracks. Here, where that line met once coming down the Neosho River valley, was to be the site for Parsons. A public auction of lots at the new townsite was held in March, 1871.

PARSONS, Kan. (AP)—Thursday's final run of the Katy Flyer also marked the end of the line for its conductor, Roy F. Dub Bradford, 70, who is retiring after 32 years with the railroad.

But the day held other significance for him.

"Exactly 34 years ago this morning," he said, "my father, George Bradford, was conductor on this same train. He died on the train two miles south of Clinton, Mo."

Harry Truman's
Cousin Dies
While In Tipton

Murray Truman Colgan, 78, first cousin of former President Harry S. Truman, died at 11:30 a. m. Thursday after suffering a heart attack at Tipton while driving from Jefferson City to his home at 1720 Overton Ave., Independence. He was accompanied by his wife, Ruth.

Mr. and Mrs. Colgan had been visiting their son and daughter-in-law, Maj. and Mrs. R. C. Colgan in Jefferson City, and had stopped at the Yontz Packing Plant in Tipton to inquire about some meat.

William Yontz, a member of the firm, directed them to the store in Tipton.

They had just left the Packing Plant when Mr. Colgan suffered the heart attack. His car ran onto the yard of Mrs. Lath Phillips, who was not at home at the time, but a neighbor, Mrs. Gene Aldredge, called Dr. J. F. Potts. Mr. Colgan died shortly after the doctor arrived at the car.

The car was traveling slow and was not damaged.

Mr. Colgan was a retired building contractor.

Besides his wife, he is survived by his son of Jefferson City, and one daughter, Mrs. R. E. Bruner, Kansas City.

The body was taken to the Richards Funeral Home in Tipton and will be taken to the Stine & McClure Funeral Home in Kansas City this morning.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The tug of war over how to fight the recession Thursday produced an Eisenhower victory on jobless relief and a call from Secretary of Labor Mitchell for a decision about tax cuts within 30-60 days.

Decision

Junk Democrat
Proposal For Relief Grants

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House voted 370-17 for the administration plan for temporary expansion of the state-handled unemployed compensation systems.

It did so after junking 223-165 a rival proposal which would have a 1½-billion-dollar federal fund.

Republicans and conservative Southern Democrats, who agreed with Eisenhower that grants would be a dole, handed him the victory.

The Eisenhower plan calls for a 50 per cent extension of the time in which insured workers could collect benefits, or an additional 13 weeks in most states. States would eventually pay the 600-million-dollar cost by means of payroll taxes or otherwise.

The tax suggestion by Mitchell amounted to proposing a deadline that would be reached no later than June 30.

He told a news conference, devoted to the question of how to overcome the recession, that he sees no solid improvement ahead.

At the same time, Mitchell said he agrees with President Eisenhower that the recession seems to be flattening out.

While the House debated its way toward a vote on broadly expanding jobless pay benefits, another parade of witnesses gave a Senate-House Economic subcommittee these views on what to do:

1. Spokesmen for the AFL-CIO, the National Grange, the National Farmers Union, and the Americans for Democratic Action all called for quick tax cuts.

Fire Damages
Heckart Home
Thursday Noon

Fire which began in the center of the one-story residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Heckart, 1612 South Quincy, about 12:10 p. m. Thursday did more than $6,500 damage to the residence and contents.

The fire, according to Acting Chief Potts Vaught, started from a wall heater in the center of the house and then spread out to every room in the home. The interior was a mass of flames before the fire companies arrived on the scene.

Mrs. Heckart who was returning to her home in a Yellow Cab driven by Floyd Cook, discovered her home afire as they drove up. Cook immediately radioed to the Yellow Cab office and they in turn notified the fire department.

Chief Vaught estimated the damage to the residence at $3,000 and to the contents at $3,500.

Congress Includes
$5,185,000 for Base

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A. L. Myers, Kansas City, was the apparent low bidder Thursday on construction of a target building at the Whiteman Air Force Base, Knob Noster, Mo.

Myers bid $204,204, while the government estimate was $171,720. There were seven other bidders on the project, a one-story 9,300 square foot building.

Hahner and Foreman, Inc., Wichita, was the apparent low bidder for construction of officers' quarters at McConnell Air Force Base, Wichita. The firm bid $236,468, while the government estimate was $237,170. Five other bids were received here by the Army Engineers.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A $1,684,361,000 military construction program was submitted to Congress today by the Defense Department.

The program, calling for both overseas and domestic projects, was submitted in a bill on which House and Senate Armed Services Committees soon will start hearings.

The bill would authorize construction of the projects. It would not provide the construction money. A separate appropriation bill will be necessary to provide construction funds.

The projects include no details given but Defense Department says they're mostly for operational and training facilities and troop housing.

Kansas: Air Force—Ft. Leavenworth, $1,076,000; Ft. Riley $1,084,000.

Air Force—Forbes AFB, Topeka, $5,660,000; McConnell AFB, Wichita, $2,119,000; Schilling AFB, Salina, $2,352,000.

First Jet Tanker
Lands at Whiteman

The first KC-135 jet tanker ever to land at Whiteman AFB touched down on the runway Wednesday afternoon due to foggy weather.

The plane was carrying Brig. Gen. William K. Martin, wing commander of the 45th Air Division at Loring AFB, Me., to an uneventful destination.

Two crewmen were formerly assigned to Whiteman. Maj. H. V. Markow, pilot, was assigned to the 42nd Air Refueling Squadron until March, 1957, and the navigator, 1st Lt. Wayne A. Anderson, was assigned as a navigator with the 340th Bombardment Wing until October, 1957.

The plane, a high-altitude refueler for jet bombers which extend the scope of Strategic Air Command operations, holds the world distance record for jet planes. It left Whiteman Thursday morning.

ONE IS MISSILE; ONE A PLANE—These sleek jet-powered defense weapons have a marked similarity but play different roles. The one at the left is the Navy's Regulus II surface-to-surface missile and the other is the Air Force's F-104A Starfighter interceptor, commonly called "the missile with a man in it." Both are powered by GE engines which enable them to operate in the Mach 2 range (twice the speed of sound). (NEA Telephoto).

Have Small Military Display

Soviets Carry Peace Banners In Their Demonstration of May Day

MOSCOW (AP)—A million Soviets bearing peace banners marched through Red Square Thursday behind Moscow's smallest and least bellicose May Day military display in years.

Unlike the lengthy demonstrations of weapons shown in the past, the military phase of the parade lasted only 15 minutes and apparently included no new arms. Nor was there the usual air force fly-past.

The big guns and rockets of nuclear capability unveiled in last year's parade were missing. The military sampling consisted of paratroopers, anti-aircraft guns, conventional rocket launchers on trucks and tracked carriers, field pieces and personnel carriers.

Premier Nikita Khrushchev and other top Soviet leaders shared their place of honor atop the Lenin-Stalin Mausoleum with President Nasser of the United Arab Republic, visiting there.

Elsewhere, May Day celebrations took various turns.

LONDON—Mounted police charged a shouting crowd of demonstrators and made 16 arrests. The trouble began when a band of workers and a right-wing group sought use of a vacant lot near St. Pancras Borough Hall. Labor Leader John Lawrence's followers ran up Labor's red flag over the hall, and 200 students waving Union Jacks demanded that the Labor banner be brought down. Lawrence refused when police told him to take his followers elsewhere. Six policemen grabbed him, he struggled and mounted police charged in. Lawrence and 15 others were taken to a police station.

BONN—About 700 workers marched through the city in silent protest against atomic arms for West German troops. Defending the arms plan, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said his opponents are guilty of totalitarian thinking in opposing atomic arms for German soldiers.

VATICAN CITY—Pope Pius XII told workers that laborers should follow a Christian road to better working conditions.

BERLIN—Steel-helmeted, goose-stepping soldiers led a march of several hundred thousand workers through East Berlin's Marx-Engels Square.

In West Berlin, Socialist Lord Mayor Willy Brandt told 50,000 people at a trade union demonstration that they must not accept the advice of false friends—the Communists. But he criticized the plan to arm West German soldiers with nuclear weapons.

TOKYO—About 300,000 Japanese demonstrated peacefully, supporting the Socialist party's call for the defeat of the Conservative government in forthcoming parliamentary elections.

In August Primary

The four are: Republican Clarence M. Purchase, county court judge of the western district; Democrat Frank Armstrong, magistrate; Democrat Bryan Howe, clerk; and Democrat Harold Barrick, prosecuting attorney.

The situation was clarified Wednesday, however when Probate Judge A. M. Harlan withdrew his candidacy for re-election, leaving his son, Sam P. Harlan, the only Harlan in the race. Both are Democrats.

As the roster of candidates stood Thursday, there were four candidates unopposed, with the incumbents assured of another term of office. Under state election law, candidates have five days from the filing deadline, Tuesday, in which to withdraw their names from the race.

Junior-Senior Prom Held With April Shower Theme

By Jim Couhig

Another eventful chapter in the 1958 school year came to a close last Saturday evening when the juniors held the annual Junior-Senior Prom in the cafeteria. An excellent job of decorating by Marge Hogan and her staff made the theme of the prom, "April Showers," a success. A large crowd attended this gala event, with a banquet prepared by the mothers of the junior class, being served by girls from the sophomore class. Following the banquet, speeches were given by John Boudy, president of the junior class, John Buckley, senior class president, and Father Laudick, pastor of Sacred Heart. The Harry Trotman orchestra played at the dance which followed the banquet.

The annual Spring Concert was held Sunday evening in the local auditorium by the Sacred Heart Glee Club, under the direction of Sister M. Everlids. A large crowd attended the concert, which was most successful. A total of 17 songs were presented by the Glee Club. Following the concert, a one-act operetta, "Marge Goes Modern" by Otis M. Carrington, was presented by various members of the Glee Club.

Sacred Heart sent representatives to the PBCAA Commercial Contest held at La Monte Tuesday. Entries in the various contests were: Rita Geiser, Carolyn Weimholt, Martha Berlin, Mary Virginia Raybourn, Marge Hogan, Catherine Steffen, Patricia Seifner, Ruth Ann Bahner, Alinda Curp, Sue Keller, Ruby Klein, and Phyllis Aggeler.

Rehearsals are being held by the various classes for the Intramural Play Contest. This year's contest shapes up to be one of the best in recent years, as each class has selected interesting plays.

Have Been Looked Up To

Tall Girls Better Adjusted Than Their Short Friends

MONTEREY, Calif. (AP)—Tall girls are better adjusted than short ones.

Why? Probably because they have been looked up to most of their lives.

A student and a psychology professor of Pomona College, Claremont, Calif., reported these findings yesterday to the Western Psychology Assn.

The investigators queried 50 Pomona College coeds at random to learn at what height a girl considers herself tall.

Eighty per cent of those who were 5 feet 7 or above regarded themselves as tall. Sixty-six per cent of 5-foot-6's considered themselves average.

So 5 feet 7 was used as the marker for a tall girl.

Fifty coeds—half that tall or taller, the rest shorter—were given two standard psychological tests. Results:

Those coeds who consider themselves tall are also more ascendant—that is, they stand up better for their rights and tend to be leaders.

They're also better adjusted, more optimistic, more cheerful, more even in mood, more socially oriented, more tolerant of others and more homogeneous—that is, more alike in their responses.

One of the largest farm machinery displays ever held at a fair will be that of the Fordson Co., which through the company representatives, Bud Cox and Dick East, have signed a contract with the Missouri State Fair for 8,500 square feet on the machinery grounds. The exhibit will be shown at the 1958 exposition of the Missouri Fair.

According to M. C. "Colie" Ervin, the representatives said it was the largest planned exhibit the company has had. The plan calls for the showing of over 20 different Fordson tractors of the two- and three-row size and the three- and four-row size. They will also feature the engine models such as the L.P. Gasoline type and the diesels.

Included in the exhibit will be a complete line of basic plows, discs, cultivators and mowers, a complete line of harvesting equipment of hay balers, corn pickers, and picking shellers, combines and storage harvesters.

recognize individuals or groups for work well done and this custom had been handed down. He said that this celebration was to honor a man gifted by the powers of the priesthood and that he had worked always for the good of his people and of his own soul.

"This priest," Rev. Ilmberger continued, "is like a river that is still on the surface, but you know that it is very active beneath. He has never failed to fulfill his obligations. This man truly works."

Two classmates of Rev. Nolan at the St. Francis Seminary in Loretta, Pa., were also speakers at the dinner.

The Rev. Leo Nugent, of Karlin, told some of the things that happened while they were at the seminary. Since they had a room across the hall from the dean they couldn't get by with much, he said, but pulled a few things, which they learned in later years the dean knew about all the time.

A seminary, he said, is not a lonesome place as you would imagine, except right at first. You soon make friends that last a lifetime. He said it was a joy to help Rev. Nolan celebrate his jubilee and he noted how fast the years had gone. St. Patrick's Church, he said, is honored to have such a pastor and he then read a letter of praise of Rev. Nolan's work as pastor from a parishioner who could not be present.

The other classmate, was the Rev. John Corbit of Holden, Rev. Corbit told of Rev. Nolan starting his studies for the priesthood in his native Ireland, but when he could not continue there, he began looking toward America. There was an obstacle, though, to keep him from coming over at first, the immigration law. But Rev. Nolan, he went on to say, had been chosen as an apostle and had been able to keep that promise 25 years. Through the years at St. Patrick's, Rev. Corbit said, Rev. Nolan has given communion, baptized babies, and brought people who had strayed away back to the church.

Rev. Corbit had a letter that he found in Rev. Nolan's room when he left the seminary 25 years ago and a pin that had the American flag, the Irish flag with the shamrock, symbol of the religion as taught by St. Patrick, above them.

In appreciation of the gifts and the honor given him, Rev. Nolan told the group gathered in the school hall that more than half of the 25 years of his priesthood had been spent in that church. He said that there had been a good many improvements during that time and the debt had been paid off by the members of the church, and he hoped that his spiritual aid had helped.

"This is a happy day," he said, "of which I will have fond remembrance."

Larry Riley served as master of ceremonies and led the group singing of several songs, with Herbert Berlin at the piano.

The entertainment of the evening was furnished by the popular singing pair, Al Domingue and John Vanderkamp, with Mrs. Earl Paxton as accompanist.

Seated at the table with Rev. Nolan, besides Rev. Ilmberger, Rev. Corbit and Rev. Nugent, were the Rev. Harry Cavanaugh, assistant at St. Patrick's Church, the Rev. A. J. Brunswick, former pastor of Sacred Heart, now of Cole Camp; the Rev. Gottlieb Steinwachs of Bahrer; and the Rev. Gerald Pelletier and the Rev. James Schrader, assistants at Sacred Heart.

The priests' table was centered with a large white cake, baked by Mrs. R. C. Smallwood, decorated with silver leaves and encircled with pink and white flowers. On the top was a silver "25". At either end of the table arrangements of pink carnations, white chrysanthemums and bells of Ireland and white candles in silver holders were placed at intervals along the tables. Bouquets of flowers were also on the other tables. On the piano was a vase of pink roses and on the gift table a vase containing 25 red roses.

The benediction was given by Rev. Brunswick, after which the group sang "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You" to Rev. Nolan.

Offer Compromise

coming from satellite nations—to avoid a flat turnaround of President Eisenhower's arctic military inspection plan.

This was the situation in advance of Friday's meeting of the U. N. Security Council, where indications up to now had pointed to a Soviet veto of the U. S. proposal. It aims to eliminate any threat of massive air attack across the polar regions.

In Washington, Secretary of State Dulles said the United States might curb its nuclear-laden arctic flights if the Soviet Union would agree to setting up an arctic inspection system. The Soviet Union wants the Security Council to call on the United States to end all such flights.

Diplomatic informants said Poland and Czechoslovakia had appealed to the Soviets to shun away from a strictly negative attitude and to accept the Eisenhower plan in some form, perhaps modified by Soviet amendments.

Secretary Mitchell suggested his deadline in these words: "If there is a bolstering of the economy necessary—and that determination has to be made reasonably soon—then, as opposed to any other form of government action, such as a large scale public works program, I would favor a tax cut."

"I think a decision should be made reasonably soon as to what needs to be done. I think within the next 30 to 60 days."

Britain Claims Lead

In Developing Bomber
LONDON (AP)—The manufacturer of Britain's new turbojet NA39 attack bomber said Thursday its first air trial shows British aviation is "ahead of anybody in the world—including the other side of the Iron Curtain."

Eric Turner, chairman and director of the Blackburn Aircraft Co., said the new plane demonstrates "clearly we are ahead of anybody else by a very long chalk. We have opened up a gap of at least three years, whatever America might do."

The NA39, which made its first test hop at Bedford Wednesday, could go into service in 1961. Powered by two DeHavilland turbojet engines, it was recently described by Britain's first sea lord, Earl Mountbatten, as the world's first specially designed low-level, high speed attack aircraft.

Under the mutual weapons development program, the United States is helping finance the plane.

Problem of Birthday

Gift for Dad Solved
KANSAS CITY (AP)—Sixteen-year old Paul Crawford's exchequer was running mighty low and his dad's birthday was coming up next day.

What to do? The next day F. W. Crawford, the dad, found a thin white envelope by his dinner plate. Inside was a small, single sheet of white paper on which this legend was laboriously typed.

"A CERTIFICATE.
"Good for one car wash and wax job."

It was signed "By Paul Crawford."

Defense Plan
Threatens
Marine Corps

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Randolph M. Pate attacked President Eisenhower's defense reorganization plan Thursday as a potential threat to the life of the Marine Corps.

The President's proposal that laws spelling out the roles of each military service be repealed, Pate said, raises a real danger that under some future secretary of defense the Marines may be demoted from a fighting force to simply a ceremonial unit.

Pate is the Marine Corps commandant. His opposition to features of the reorganization bill was the most outspoken voiced by any Pentagon witness who has appeared so far before the House Armed Services Committee.

Approving Pate's stand, Rep. Hebert (D-La.) told him he had delivered a death blow "to the unnecessary language in this bill."

At the same time the committee received assurances from Secretary of Defense McElroy that his department has no intention of making any sweeping realignment of the military services or their administration.

McElroy wrote the committee, in answer to questions the congressmen posed last week, that any merger of the services would be expressly forbidden by the proposed law.

"The Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps retain their respective individualities," McElroy said.

Pate emphasized he does not believe those now in high office have any intention of reducing the Marine Corps to impotence if the reorganization goes through. But someday the corps could get the bum's rush, he said.

"Present good intentions are no insurance against future damage to our usefulness," he asserted. "Only in the law can we find such insurance."

Business Group

worse. The problem of the investor is very simple, for all investments can be crystallized to one procedure, Stedman said—observe carefully who gets the money and what he does with it.

In 1946 there was supposed to be a major postwar depression. There was a major break in the market. Everybody had money, nobody had automobiles, and General Motors stock tripled. When the Korean crisis came, the market went down again and cracked wide open. Money was spent on defense in planes, aluminum was needed for the planes, so Reynolds Metals went up two or three times what it had been.

In the postwar 1943-54 recession, the Federal Reserve board found it had released lots of money much too soon, and if you had bought bonds and stocks then you could have doubled your money, Stedman said. In 1954-55 almost any leading corporation would have made money, for pension funds had been pouring in, dominated by banks and insurance. This was the first wholesale buying and it became easy to make money in leading stocks.

The money, he said, is shifted and is being spent for something else, and it has been possible to increase the money 60 to 100 percent by shifting from securities that used to be popular to those that are popular at the moment.

People think of staple stocks because they are popular, such as grocery chains and tobacco—people always will eat and smoke. But if you want to make a lot of money, Stedman said, look for super stocks in the trend of things. He pointed out that at this time people are spending more money for hobbies, and photography is one leading hobby. There is a stress on leisure and recreation, and companies making things for recreation, such as bowling machines, are in a fertile field. There is a great demand all over the country for more bowling facilities. Soft drinks, he said, is another. Today is not the time to invest in automobile stock, oil and others that are not in such great demand at the present time.

Stedman pointed out that the mutual funds companies in your own home town are excellent places to invest your money because they study the stocks and know when and how to invest. You will do just as well as if you were on Wall Street.

Stedman was accompanied to Sedalia by his assistant, Robert Barbanell.

Accompanying Dean Puckett to Sedalia was Dr. Ralph Woodward, president of Central College, and Jake Turnage.

The invocation was given by Dr. Woodward.

Renewal of Exports
Holds Soybeans Steady

CHICAGO (AP)—Renewal of export business in soybeans held that futures market fairly steady on the Board of Trade Thursday but all grains except oats finished with losses.

The advance of a cent a bushel or more in all the corn contracts Wednesday was an invitation to profit-takers Thursday and they accepted. At the close, the grains were virtually wiped out.

Along with the profit-taking, though, were mildly bearish advices that producer offerings of the grain on cash markets had increased slightly and that the government next Monday will resume sales of off-grade corn at their own bin sites.

At the close, wheat was 3/4 cent a bushel lower, corn 1/4 cent lower, oats unchanged to 1/4 cent higher, rye 1/4 cent lower, soybeans 1/4 cent lower to 1/4 cent higher, and land unchanged to 13 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Shark Reverses Tables
In Ride Underwater

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Skin-diver Johnny Bower just wanted a nice underwater ride when he grabbed a five-foot shark by the tail.

But the fish turned around, bit him in the thigh and wouldn't let go.

A companion, Burt Williams, joined the drama in 30-foot water off Miami Beach Wednesday. He began holding the tail while Bower grabbed the gills.

Williams also fired a spear through the shark which held on until all three reached a boat. Men in the boat cut the shark away from Bower's thigh.

Bower, a Britisher, wasn't hurt. He said "only teeth marks to show for it, you know."

Re-enactment Of
Dred Scott Trial
Draws Big Crowd

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Re-enactment of the historic Dred Scott trial in the old courthouse in downtown St. Louis last night drew a larger crowd than the original trial in 1850.

Circuit Judge John K. Regan, who played the frock-coated Circuit Judge Alexander Hamilton of 1850, said "this was just one of 12 trials that day 108 years ago."

The court room was filled an hour before the trial started and the bar association estimated hundreds were turned away. But so many wanted to see it the cast of lawyers cut their lines short and staged a second run last night for 300 persons who waited outside.

It will be given again tonight at 8:30. It was a re-enactment of the second trial in Circuit Court in St. Louis County. Scott won his freedom in that one, but the State Supreme Court reversed the verdict on a technicality. The case eventually went to the U. S. Supreme Court, which held he had no right as a slave to sue. The first trial was held in the same courthouse.
